EXCAVATING WORK for new sanitary sewer line progresses along property easement just east of the intersection of Johnson Road and Edgewood Avenue. The new line is being financed by residents of the Zippel-Emert-Kilmer area and will serve approximately 60 homes. Larry Prather operates equipment digging line in which 10-inch sewer tile will be laid. C. D. Peters Construction Co. is the contractor. (Press-Record Photo)

City cleanup drive launched in Venice

The Venice City Council at its meeting Tuesday night announced plans for a major "cleanup and fixup drive." "Venice always has been a good place to live, but we can make it even better with the help of all our citizens," Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold told council members. "Our city building inspectors and health inspectors, along with others, have been working hard to improve the appearance and general health conditions of our city." "We are asking all of our citizens to make a special effort to clean up their yards, pick up trash lying around and fix up their property if necessary." "We are sending a letter asking for the cooperation of our citizens and if they need help hauling trash or debris they may call the Superintendent of Street's office or they can call me here at city hall and we will try to help them," Ebersold said. It was reported at the meeting that beginning March 1, government food stamps may be obtained at the Madison and Granite City post offices, in addition to the Granite City Namekiki branch post office. The Venice council spearheaded the move to obtain local distribution points due to the hardship caused by food stamp clients going to East St. Louis or Alton, the only two previous distribution centers. Mayor Ebersold read the council letter he had written to Governor Daniel Walker in Springfield on behalf of the City Council, urging the placing of an Exposition Center near the SIU at Edwardsville campus area. Jack Tolliver, city engineer, reported that work on the Broadway Relocation project had been slowed due to weather. He also announced that a contract for the Chicago Avenue overpass in Granite City, which is part of FA Route 151, had been awarded. The bridge report for the month of November showed a total of 215,848 vehicular crossings, a daily average of 7,194. The city council voted to meet at 8 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 23.

Woman robbed, beaten

Mrs. Rose Darling, 56, of 1624 Fourth St., Madison, was beaten and robbed of two diamond rings worth $5,000 at 1:30 a.m. Wednesday in her home. She was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for bruises to her face and right wrist, x-rayed and released. Her assailant was described as a white male, tall over six feet), wearing a stocking mask and gloves. According to police, the man cut through a screen door, broke the glass out of a frame and entered the bedroom where Mrs. Darling was sleeping. He reportedly grabbed her, started beating her with his fists and shouted, "Give me your rings and that pearl one too." She told him where the rings were. He then tied her hands behind her with a 26-inch piece of electrical cord and fled after cutting the telephone wires. Mrs. Darling with her hands still tied behind her, made her way to the home of a neighbor who telephoned police.

New traffic lights delayed

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
A two-month delay in activating new electric traffic signals at four Madison Avenue intersections has been caused by a "misunderstanding" over specifications which now has been resolved, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

Although an agreement has been reached under which state highway officials will accept alteration of the mastarms that extend the traffic lights over the center of the intersections, it still will require from 30 to 50 days to complete the work necessary to place the new lights in operation, it was learned.

Construction work for enlarging the four Madison Avenue intersections at 27th, 23rd and 20th streets and Niedringhaus Avenue and installation of modernized sign systems at three of those intersections virtually was completed in mid-September under a $316,377 contract awarded by state approval. At that point, however, activation of the new traffic lights at 27th and 23rd streets and Niedringhaus Avenue was held up because the state highway department failed to approve the design of the metal mastarms that extend from

The Democratic Mid-Term Conference, which concluded this week in Kansas City, ended on "a high note, very much so," according to Sam E. Wolf, 21 Bermuda Lane, who was among the 2,900 plus delegates.

Wolf said the conference had "all the atmosphere, tension and debates of a regular national convention. It was very well organized and the city of Kansas City went all out in receiving delegates," he remarked. Among the key issues closely debated was the election of a nine-member National Judicial Council, which was assigned responsibility for determining the challenges of state delegations at the national presidential nominating conventions. Wolf said the purpose and objectives of the new council do not, usurp or forego the responsibilities of the Credentials Committee. The council will research delegation challenges and relieve the committee's workload at the convention, he explained.

The Judicial Council will function under direct supervision of the National Democratic Committee, Wolf said. Separate caucuses were held by women, black and other minority group representatives at the conference to effect a compromise resulting in the elimination of the mandatory quota system in the selection of convention delegates.

The "quota" policy as followed at the 1972 Democratic presidential nominating convention was regarded by many as "disastrous." Striking from the National Democratic Party Charter the references to quotas in choosing delegates was considered by most conferees as essential to restoring party harmony, it was reported.

Parkview drainage program dropped

"The Parkview Estates drainage project itself now is bogged down until spring," Auditor Norman Hessler told the Namekiki Town Board of Auditors during the board's regular meeting Monday night. The township received an acceptable bid last month from G. H. Sternberg & Co. to construct a nine-foot wide concrete swail 1,725 feet long from the intersection of Stratford and Snowbird lanes east to the Alton & Southern Railroad tracks. Sternberg's bid was $49,527 for the work.

The cost also included a north-south swail which would have drained property owned by Everett Steele. Steele agreed to pay the cost of the north-south portion of the project, if the cost was reasonable. The board estimated that portion of the project amounted to about $13,000 of Sternberg's bid and Steele decided he did not wish to participate in the program.

Louis Whitsett, Namekiki Supervisor, then asked Sternberg if he could reduce his bid price by eliminating the north-south swail. The supervisor reported Monday night that Sternberg would require preparation of a new bid if the north-south system was eliminated. The board voted to table action on the project until a suit, which threatens to bar the construction, has been settled.

The suit was filed Aug. 14 on behalf of several owners of land east of the railroad tracks who feel the drainage improvement would cause their land to flood. They received a temporary restraining order halting any action to increase the flow of water into their land. A date for a hearing on a requested permanent injunction has not been set. The township contends the landowners have blocked a natural watershed and can not stop additional water from flowing across their land.

Sternberg indicated his construction costs may rise in February and indicated he was not interested in submitting a new firm bid until the lawsuit has been settled and a date for the actual start of construction can be set. In light of the envisioned delays, which probably will delay the project at least until spring, Auditor Hessler asked if a 20-inch culvert could be placed in the ground in one area near Snowbird Lane where standing water has presented a serious problem. Whitsett indicated he could use new Manpower program employees to do most of the work, but heavy equipment would be required to place the pipe in the ground. A resident suggested that since all Parkview Estates residents pay taxes to the East

Election races mount

Spirited races for most aldermanic posts and the office of city street superintendent in next year's April 1 municipal election in Granite City appeared certain today with 19 potential candidates for eight offices already in the field.

Nominating petitions forms to enter the campaign for seven aldermanic openings and the one street superintendent's post have been obtained from the city clerk's office by 16 persons indicating their candidacies as alderman of Ward Seven, a post now held by Emerald Dawes. In addition to Dawes, those obtaining petition forms as candidates in the seventh ward are Don Partney Jr., son of the late Mayor Donald Partney;

The filing period for the Granite City municipal election will open Monday, Dec. 23, and continue through Jan. 26. Candidates will have until Feb. 1 to withdraw from the ballot if they should decide to do so. City Clerk Robert Stevens said his office has issued nomination petitions to Tom Nesbitt, 2807 Warren Ave., as the latest potential candidate for street superintendent. Obtaining petitions earlier were Lionel Portell, incumbent street superintendent, and Mac Warfield, son of former Street Superintendent William Warfield who retired from that office in 1970.

All of the incumbent aldermen whose terms expire this year have obtained petitions as candidates for re-election in their respective wards. Five of these already have opposition on the basis of petitions obtained from the city clerk. With ten days still remaining before the filing period opens, petitions already have been obtained by four persons indicating their candidacies as

The Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign has reached the $5,000 mark, approximately $2,500 behind last year at this time, according to Steve Bristol, campaign chairman. The goal for the Tree of Lights campaign is $16,500, a $300 increase over the $16,200 raised last year. Last year's quota was $15,500.

Application for Christmas food baskets are being accepted at the Salvation Army Citadel, 1900 Grand Ave., weekdays from 9 a.m. until noon, and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

"Persons wishing a food basket must make application," Capt. Ronald Kerley said. "There is not enough money to give a basket to everyone who makes application. They will be given to those determined most needy."

"Those who are approved for a basket will receive notification as to the time and place they may pick up the food on Dec. 23. Persons who make application that are not approved also will receive a letter informing them."

Baskets are scheduled to be given out at the Venice Recreation Center on Dec. 23 by appointment only.

Shakeup in state fair officers over contract

One state official has resigned and another was fired Tuesday following an investigation into several Illinois State Fair Agency maintenance contracts.

The investigation, conducted by the Office of Special Investigations, will continue, a spokesman for Gov. Daniel Walker said.

The officials are Casimir R. Bied, assistant manager of the State Fair Agency, who resigned, and Paul J. Giganti, chief of the licensing branch of the Department of Registration and Education, who was discharged by Ronald Stacker, director of the department.

Bied has been a state employee since Aug. 1, 1972, when he joined the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. He became assistant fair manager on Jan. 1, 1974.

Giganti has been with the Department of Registration and Education since 1961. Both Bied and Giganti had been asked to resign.

The terminations are an outgrowth of OSI findings and allegations concerning the State Fair Agency contract for manure removal and other work by the Robert A. Williams Construction Co. of Springfield.

Fifty per cent of the Williams company ownership is listed in the name of Giganti's wife, Toby Carol Giganti, it is contended. The State Purchasing Act forbids any state employee who together with his wife or children own 15 per cent or more of a company to make contracts with the state.

Bied negotiated and drafted the contract, it is alleged.

The firm charged the state $261,000 for manure removal and general maintenance at the fairground. Payment on the bill has been withheld.

Acting State Fair Supt. Paul H. King will review the firm's work and consult with the comptroller and attorney.

general to determine whether or how much of the bill should be paid, he said.

OSI Director Donald Page Moore said the results and other information and leads gathered in the two-month investigation have been turned over to Sangamon County State's Attorney C. Joseph Cavanagh for review and possible further investigation.

Meanwhile, Comptroller George W. Lindberg said Tuesday he has received an opinion from Attorney General William J. Scott that Acting Fair Supt. King may not legally spend state tax money.

"As of today I am stopping payments on all vouchers from the state fair," Lindberg said. "If Gov. Walker wants someone to run the state fair, the governor must now legally appoint someone to the position of superintendent."

The comptroller has been holding up payments to businessmen and fair prize winners submitted by the fair agency since Nov. 22, when the comptroller asked the attorney general to review the legality of King's status.

Scott's opinion said the appointment of a fair superintendent must be submitted for State Senate confirmation to qualify the superintendent to sign vouchers to pay the state fair's bills.

Lindberg said he will continue to stop payment on about $80,000 in state fair bills.

In addition, Lindberg said the payroll for the 87 persons employed by the State Fair Agency will be halted, pending the appointment of a fair superintendent.

Brothers rescue hunter

The efforts of two young men who live near the northern end of Chouteau Island apparently were responsible for saving the life of one of four duck hunters who, with his three companions, was thrown into the Mississippi River when their boat overturned during the weekend.

While three of the men clung to the overturned boat, Aaron Duckworth of Cahokia was thrown into the current and carried nearly a mile south of the scene of the accident when he was rescued by Stephen Worley, 22, and his brother Keith, 19.

Several children who saw Duckworth in the river ran to the nearby Worley farm for help. Mrs. William Worley, mother of Stephen and Keith, said the family lost all of its possessions in the 1973 flood, but still had a canoe for which there were no paddles.

One of her boys grabbed a flat shovel and the other a short paddle and some rope. They managed to reach Duckworth and although he was "near panic," Mrs. Worley said, complied with the youth's instructions not to try to get into the canoe.

Steve and Keith lashed Duckworth to the canoe with the rope and then managed to reach shore from where Duckworth was taken to the Worley home. Meanwhile, a group of youths including Denny Hutchins, Harold Burris and Linda Wallace, all of Granite City, managed to assist the other hunters ashore near the northern point of the island. They also were taken to the Worley home from where Duckworth and Gene Brackett of St. Charles, Mo., were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. They were treated for exposure and released.

The other two hunters were George Adams of Orchard Farm, Mo., and Tom Telley of Collinsville.

State upholds revocation of Madison tavern license

The Illinois Liquor Control Commission, in a hearing Monday at Springfield, upheld the revocation of the tavern license of Jenny Huey, 41, operator of Big Jenny's Tavern, 1112 State St., Madison.

Brazzell sentenced to 2 prison terms

Leslie (Jack) Brazzell, 60, a former chief pump operator for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, was sentenced Monday in St. Clair County Circuit Court to serve two concurrent two to six year prison terms for arson.

He was convicted by a jury last month of burning two cars near Paderborn, Ill., May 4. One belonged to his former wife, Doris, and the other was her sister's.

School holidays begin Dec. 20

All public and parochial schools in the Quad-Cities will begin Christmas holiday vacation after regular classes on Friday, Dec. 20, with the exception of St. Elizabeth, Sacred Heart and St. Joseph Schools which will dismiss the students at noon.

Venice and Madison public schools and parochial schools, St. Mary-St. Mark, St. Margaret Mary, Sacred Heart, St. Elizabeth and St. Joseph Schools will return at the regular hours on Thursday, Jan. 2.

All the Granite City public school students will begin their regular classes on Monday, Jan. 6.

Mrs. Huey appealed the license revocation order of Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk after Madison police, assisted by members of the Madison County Sheriff's department, raided the tavern on June 24. Mrs. Huey is free on bond, awaiting trial in January on a charge of keeping a house of prostitution. Two other women have been charged with prostitution, Catherine Griffin, 20, and Joann Brown, 18, both of St. Louis. They are awaiting trial.

Francis Swope, 64, succumbs

Francis Swope, 64, of 416 E. State St., O'Fallon, an employee of Granite City Steel, died at 11:15 a.m., Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mr. Swope was employed as a millwright for 14 years at the local plant.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Agnes Swope; one son,

Services held for Mrs. Reza Novosel

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church for Mrs. Reza (Asprian) Novosel, 86, of Rural Route One, Granite City.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Survivors include five sons, Frank Kraus Sr., Mike, Steve and Joseph Novosel, all of Granite City, and Louis Kraus of Madison; one daughter, Mrs. James (Mary) Vrenick of Granite City; 16 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Mike Novosel, in July, 1947, and another son, John Kraus in February 1973.

Police are seeking Miss Brown, according to Detective Paul Bargiel of Madison, as she did not appear at a plea hearing. She was free on a $500 bond.

The tavern may remain open for 20 days, during which time the tavern owner may file for a rehearing with the Liquor Commission. If a rehearing is denied the owner has another 20 days to file an appeal with the Third Judicial Circuit Court.

Alan Swope of Ripley, Tenn., a daughter, Mrs. Steven (Sandra) McKinley of O'Fallon and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at an O'Fallon funeral home. Burial will be in Mount Calvary, Shiloh, Ill.

Law suit filed

William Phelps, an agent of Branch Motor Express at 1422 Broadway St., Venice, has filed a four-count suit, seeking $125,000 in each count, in Madison County Circuit Court against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company of St. Louis and a representative of Southwestern Bell, Olivia Ochoa, 125 Ashbrook St., Granite City.

Phelps alleges that his business was damaged seriously in 1973 when Ochoa and Southwestern Bell listed under the name of his trucking firm the telephone numbers of Phelps and that of a competitor, and again in 1974 when only the telephone number of his competitor was listed under Branch Motor Express.

State legislation is filed on freedom of information

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott announced Monday that State Senator Robert W. Mitchell of Oswego and State Representative Allan Schoeberlin of Aurora will pre-file in the Illinois legislature Scott's proposed legislation to open up state and local government records to scrutiny by the public.

Pre-filing the bill means it will be available for consideration by the legislature when it convenes in January for its major biennial session.

The proposed law would be modeled after the federal Freedom of Information Act, which was recently strengthened by Congress.

Even without the new provisions, Scott said, "The federal law has been enormously effective in opening up government files to companies, taxpayers, scholars, newspaper reporters and other citizens, and we should guarantee this same right here in Illinois."

He noted that the law would have safeguards against invasion of privacy, disclosure of confidential financial information or trade secrets, and release of material relating to law enforcement investigations.

Scott announced the pre-filing at a ceremony in Aurora honoring the late James S. Copley, former publisher of Copley newspapers in Illinois and California. Scott declared,

"When we honor this distinguished newspaperman, we also honor our nation's vital First Amendment freedoms—freedom of speech and freedom of the press."

"An Illinois Freedom of Information Act will help strengthen and guarantee these freedoms by preventing government misuse of the vast stores of information it now gathers from the citizens."

The attorney general was the principal speaker at the Aurora ceremony, in which five American flags with 13 stars to 48, were dedicated at the Grand Army of the Republic museum. Mitchell and Schoeberlin were on the platform with Scott.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: DEALS YOU CAN'T REFUSE

Prohibition was the opportunity of a lifetime for Illinois criminals, and not just in Chicago.

With headquarters in Williamson and Franklin counties in Southern Illinois, and close ties to East St. Louis, Charlie Birger and the Shelton brothers did a thriving business in bootleg liquor, roadhouses, and stolen cars until a feud turned into a full-scale gang war, leaving at least 10 persons dead.

Williamson County was the natural locale for the Birger-Shelton War. The county had a history of violence dating back to the 1860s, and an acceptance of murder that resulted in a failure to convict any defendant for that crime for 100 years.

Twenty-one people, 19 of them strikebreakers, had been killed in Herin during a mine strike in 1922, and another 18 were killed in 1924-25 as the Ku Klux Klan battled "sinners" in the county.

Birger and the Sheltons presented a united front to the Klan, but when that threat dissolved they turned on each other. Fighting out trucks like armored tanks, the two gangs cruised county roads, firing at enemies. Birger's fortress, Shady Rest, a cabin with four-thick log walls located outside of Harrisburg, was a special target. On Nov. 12, 1926, an airplane dropped three homemade bombs on the site. The bombs fizzled, but on Jan. 9, 1927, Shady Rest exploded, possibly bombed by Birger himself. Four persons were found dead in the ruins.

The gangs then took their war into open court. Birger accused the Sheltons of a Co. Inville mail robbery, sending the three brothers briefly to prison, until their release due to perjury at the trial. Underlings in the Birger gang, arrested for lesser crimes, began testifying against their former boss. On July 27, 1927, Birger was sentenced to death for ordering the murder of West City mayor, Joe Adams. He appealed the sentence, then pleaded insanity, but to no avail. On April 19, 1928, Charlie Birger was hanged. By May of 1930, the entire leadership of the Birger gang was behind bars for crimes ranging from murder to violation of the prohibition laws.

The Shelton brothers moved their operations to Peoria where they flourished until 1947 when one by one, Earl, Bernie, Earl, and Roy were all shot in unsolved crimes. Earl survived, but after a series of firebombs of other Shelton property, the old Shelton homestead itself was destroyed by fire. The roaring twenties thus ended as violently as they began in Williamson County.

GC firm bids on state jobs

The Illinois Department of Transportation announced yesterday that bids totaling $55,761,964 were received Monday on 117 road and waterway improvement projects.

There were two Supplemental Freeway System projects included in the letting. Low bids on those projects totaled $2,452,300.

The projects included: Furnish and install a flashing beacon signal at the intersection of U.S. 40 and Ill. 160 (West Junction) north of Highland. Estimated cost $3,600. R. Dron Electrical Co., Inc., Granite City, $5,731.

Modify the traffic control signals at the south ramp terminals of the Int. 270 and Ill. 157 interchange, west of Glen Carbon. Estimated cost $6,400. R. Dron Electrical Co., Inc., Granite City, $5,171.

Furnish and install traffic signals at the intersection of Ill. 151 and Lincoln Trail at the northwest edge of Fairview Heights. Estimated cost $96,900. R. Dron Electric Co., Inc., Granite City, $68,518.

Judge state board by its goals and its relationship with local schools — Cronin

The performance of the new State Board of Education and its appointed superintendent of education can be judged by criteria found in statutes creating the board, State Superintendent of Education Joseph Cronin said in remarks prepared for delivery to the 43rd annual Administrators Roundup held during the weekend at Illinois State University, Normal.

Dr. Cronin offered his remarks to nearly 300 administrators, representing elementary, secondary and higher education, at a luncheon held at ISU's Memorial Union. It was his first Illinois speech since being named Nov. 23 by the State Board of Education as the first appointed superintendent of education.

The four criteria Dr. Cronin enumerated for judging both his and the board's performance were:

1. Will the board begin to declare goals and objectives for both public and non-public education and for academic and vocational education?
2. Can the state board clarify and define a productive relationship with local school boards?
3. Will the two boards—Education and Higher Education—develop ways to work together on such issues as teacher training, certification and renewal, on vocational education and on research and planning?
4. Can the Department of Education improve its relationship to other state agencies?

He added that Illinois citizens should expect the new board and superintendent to move on all four fronts. And, he said, advice and constructive criticism will be welcomed.

Dr. Cronin, currently secretary of education in Massachusetts, will assume his Illinois post on Jan. 13.

The new state board is meeting today in Chicago with Dr. Cronin and Dr. Michael J. Bakalis, outgoing state superintendent of public instruction, the last to hold that elective position.

Dr. Cronin will discuss 1975 state legislative matters, visitation to state education programs, National Association of State Boards of Education service for board members, and legal issues of the transition. Dr. Deane Wiley of SIUE has been assisting the board during the transition period.

Convention report by mayor

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler addressed the Granite City Rotary Club at its Tuesday noon meeting in the YMCA concerning his recent trip to Houston, Tex., to attend the 50th annual meeting of the National League of Cities.

Mayor Schuler said that Thomas Bradley, mayor of Los Angeles, Calif., and president of the 2,000-member league gave the keynote address.

According to Mayor Schuler, Bradley attacked the extension of the Fair Labor Standards Act passed in March on grounds that it takes away "the inherent rights of cities and states to negotiate with employees, and sets up more dictatorial federal policies."

Schuler said the National League of Cities is planning a law suit against the federal government on the act.

Bradley praised approval of the Mass Transit Act which provides aid to transit authorities such as the Bi-State Transit System in this area.

The mayor told club members that while in Houston he had a chance to visit with the head of the Houston Sanitary Sewer department and found that Houston has sewer problems similar to those of Granite City.

Schuler said that Houston lined its sewers with a plastic type lining and is pleased with the results. He brought back copies of the Houston bid specifications for review by the council.

Another item of interest, Schuler commented, was a hard rubber matting being used by several major cities around rough railroad crossing to smooth them out.

The club was reminded that next Tuesday will be its annual Christmas program, and they will honor past presidents and their wives. The Granite City High School South Advanced Mixed Chorus under the leadership of Mrs. Mary Ann Bright would perform.

The Rotary-sponsored prayer breakfast will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 8, and discussion will continue on regional planning topics.

The Rotarians are to ring bells for the Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign Friday.

Tavern owner fined $10

Jeanne G. DaCunha, 47, of 1539 Fourth St., operator of Jeanne's French Quarters, 925 Grand Ave., Madison, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of violation of tavern closing hours, and was fined $10 plus $5 cost by Associate Judge William Johnson.

The tavern owner was arrested and charged by Madison police for violation of the 1 a.m. city ordinance on tavern closings Sept. 13.

Two other Madison tavern owners face a similar charge but their cases have not yet been placed on the court docket.

WORKER IS HURT
Al Scott, 55, St. Louis, a construction worker, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 2:40 p.m. Monday for injuries caused when an iron crane hook struck the right side of his head. X-rays were taken and he was released.

Mrs. Sutter dies at 67

Mrs. Mabel Sutter, 67, a resident of the Colonial Haven Nursing Home, Granite City, for two months, formerly of the Dupo area, died at 5:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Her husband, Fred Sutter, died in 1960.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Annetta Hamann, East Carondelet, and Mrs. Clara Landgraf, Dupo; one son, Homer Sutter of Sitka, Alaska; a brother, Jack Tolbert, Marion, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Audlene Mitchell of St. Louis, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today at a Dupo funeral home. Burial was in Palmer Hill Cemetery in the Dupo area.

Hall of Fame will open daily

The Sports Hall of Fame in Busch Memorial Stadium will remain open daily, including Sundays, through Sunday, Jan. 5.

Demand to see the museum increased greatly during the 1974 season, according to Jacqueline Jordan, director of the Hall of Fame, and winter hours have been expanded to accommodate visitors and sports fans.

Total attendance since the Hall of Fame opened in June 1968 has reached 410,000 persons.

The Hall of Fame sports museum will be open daily, except Christmas Day and New Year's Day, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Stadium tours will also operate daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and the Hall of Fame gift and souvenir shop will be open each day until 5 p.m.

On Monday, Jan. 6, the Hall of Fame will close to the general public for two months. During the closed period extensive remodeling and the addition of new displays are planned.

Statistics encourage SIUE basketball hopes

There's a popular saying that one can prove almost anything by figures.

Basketball statistics, however, like those of baseball, are the lifeblood of the sport and do tell an accurate story.

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville varsity coach, Jim Dudley is an avid student of his players' overall statistics. Now, with his Cougars 1-1 for the young season, one can be sure he is studying overtime on his performers' stats.

SIUE is idle this week during quarter exams.

The Cougars' two-game figures have to be encouraging for Dudley. In SIUE's 1973 season last year, for example, the Cougars' leading scorer was the "splendid splinter," Troy's Keith McFarland.

"Marvelous Mack" finished the season with a 19-point-per-game average. This year, he's hitting at a 25.5-per-game clip. And, he appears headed toward keeping, or even improving on, that production. For one thing, he's much stronger.

Most telling, though, about McFarland's value to the Cougars is his "assist" totals. He's tied with point guard Don Koppenhaver of Alton, both with 10.

The scrambling Koppenhaver could end up as one of the nation's top free throw shooters if he keeps up his production at the charity line: he's hitting at an 88.9 clip, or eight of nine attempts.

Even more improved this season offensively is forward John Strubberg, hitting at a 20.5-point-per-game average. Last year, the deadeye Strubberg finished just under 10 points (9.8) per game.

The big question now is, after just two games, whether big (6-10½) Dan Donahue, freshman standout from Chicago's Arlington Heights High, be able to continue his brilliant play and show the improvement he needs if he's to fill the big void caused by the loss of Leon Wright and Doug Young.

He's leading the Cougar rebounders with an 18-caroms per game average; Young led last year's Cougars with 13 per game and Wright was close behind with 12.

In addition to Donahue's rebounding talents, he's showing signs of being able to score, too. In SIUE's opening game, he made 14 points as he shot a 43.8 per cent average from the floor. That was against Thomas More College.

In the losing game with Indiana University-Southeast, Donahue was slowed down by a sore throat which benched him much of the second half. The loss of his height and scrambling ability against IUS could have been the difference in that loss.

Freshman Vince Barnett's two-game performance is a "plus" as far as Dudley is concerned. The tall player from Decatur's MacArthur High is hitting for a per-game average of 5.5 and averaging eight rebounds. His point production is almost sure to increase as his confidence grows. Now, he's inclined to pass off to an upperclassman when, perhaps, he should take the shot.

The performance of another freshman, Bill Bickler, a standout from Wheeling, a Chicago suburb, has Dudley smiling, too. His play has been smooth and calm.

Best bench insurance for the Cougars has been a pair of veterans, guard Tom Butler, probably SIUE's best fireman, and Thurman Ferree. The two University during the weekend at St. Louis' Busch Stadium.

Two standout performers from St. Louis University were chosen: defenseman Bruce Hudson and forward Tim Logush. The University of Missouri-St. Louis team landed Frank Flesch, a midfielder, on the West squad.

Coaches of the West team will be Quincy College's Jack MacKenzie and his assistant, Frank Longo. Two standouts on the Quincy squad, goaltender Matt Weiss and forward Bill Fann, were chosen to play on the West team.

This year, Coach Bob Guelker's Cougars battled down to the finals of the Midwest Regional before bowing to St. Louis University 2-1 in triple overtime. St. Louis lost 2-1 in four overtimes in the championship final to Howard Indiana natives can drive and scramble with the best.

Wood River's Dennis Olson, who figured to be a sharpshooter for the Cougars, hasn't had a good chance to show what he can do. But Southwestern Illinois fans know that he's a real marksman.

Greg Jones of Granite City punned 24 points into the basket for Sanford-Brown College of St. Louis last week, but the Indians fell 75-68 to Harris Teacher College, dropping their season record to 0-6.

Last Saturday, Sanford-Brown lost 62-57 to Central Bible College. Jones scored 16 points in that contest.

Three members of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team have received post-season honors by being named to the West squad in the third annual Senior Bowl soccer game to be played in Orlando, Fla., Saturday.

The trio of Cougar kickers, defenseman Steve Elliott, defender Bobby Kessen and forward-striker, Chris Carenza, all played key roles in pacing the SIUE soccer team to its sixth straight post-season NCAA division 1 regional tournament berth.

Diet has important role in preventive medicine

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOWDY
Registered Dietitian

In the future it is to be hoped that there will be greater emphasis on the prevention of illnesses, rather than only concentration on curing them after they have developed.

The role of human diet in preventive medicine is of major importance. To bring about many of the necessary changes in attitude toward diet and nutrition, medical schools of the future will have to improve physicians' education in this field.

The current medical education almost totally ignores the diet and treats the symptoms and the disease with surgery and/or drugs.

The advancement in surgery, and diagnosis and treatment, has been spectacular during this century, and the blessings of this progress can be witnessed every day, but ignoring diet and nutrition is a contradiction.

This is not meant as a criticism of the medical profession. Each step in medical advancement adds that much more to the burden of educating a physician.

A medical student cannot be expected to assume proficiency in all fields of health and medicine—in both surgery and dietetics, for example, or so would be to dilute effectiveness.

The point I am trying to make is that a doctor of the future should be trained to recognize the importance of human diet and nutrition and how it applies to all fields of medicine.

When we consider the many diseases or poor conditions of the body that are directly related to a bad diet, it should make us all conscious of good nutrition.

Arteriosclerosis, the clogging of blood vessels leading to heart attacks and strokes, is a major killer and can be prevented, in many cases, by proper dietary control.

The current procedure is to wait until the disease strikes and then the doctor is called upon to treat the problem with medication.

In the future the emphasis will be on the prevention of the accumulation of plaque (clogging material) rather than medicating for it after it has accumulated.

Some doctors are looking at the patient's diet as the source of problems; however, a medical doctor cannot be expected to be dietitian and physician.

To achieve any sort of major changes in stopping the developing of degenerative killer diseases, there must be major changes in eating habits.

Our society must be made aware of what they are doing to themselves and to their families at the dinner table.

The incidence of obesity in America has reached almost epidemic proportions and the situation is caused entirely by improper eating patterns.

Some people, encouraged by advertisements implying medical treatment, are even using drugs to cure their obesity rather than facing up to changing their eating habits.

Certain diseases develop with obesity. Blood sugars increase and diabetes often results. When this happens the patient is forced to change their dietary habits or die.

Hypertension, high blood pressure, is often brought on or aggravated by obesity. Water retention (edema) is a major concern in high blood pressure. Medication is often necessary, but it can be greatly helped by a change in the diet to lower the sodium content.

A better knowledge and understanding of nutrition and its role in human health would prevent many problems from developing.

All of the right foods are in plentiful supply, it is just a matter of knowing how much of what to eat and when to eat it.

$55,000 law suit

Theron Hogue has filed a two-count suit, seeking $55,000 damages in one count and $5,000 medical fees in the other, in Madison County Circuit Court in behalf of his son, Jeffrey Hogue, a minor, against Granite Chrysler-Plymouth, 19th Street and Grand Avenue.

Hogue alleges that on Oct. 25, 1974, his son received severe and permanent injuries when he was bitten by a dog allegedly owned by the Granite City firm, while walking in the 1800 block of Grand Avenue.

Seek missing tractor-trailer

Officials in five states are seeking the driver of a tractor-trailer which left Pre-Pab Transit Co., 1559 State St., Nov. 27 at Atlantic City, N. J. The truck never arrived at its destination.

Officials of the trucking company said the truck has not been seen since it left Granite City carrying three prefabricated storage sheds. A driver of the red 1967 GMC tractor and of the trailer have been sent to law enforcement agencies in all states between here and Atlantic City.

Rites for mother of GC woman

Funeral services were held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Boniface Catholic Church, Edwardsville, for Mrs. Florence M. Todd, 67, of Edwardsville, mother of Mrs. Kenneth (Patricia) Holder of Granite City.

Mrs. Todd, died at 11:25 a.m. Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland. Burial was in National Cemetery, Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Mary Haynes of Edwardsville; seven grandchildren, four sisters and one brother.

Fighting off a long, cold, costly winter

By BARB MAYER

CHICAGO — You don't have to turn your thermostat way down, wear 10 layers of clothing and drink lots of hot chocolate to keep warm this winter.

There's more than one way to save energy and earn your family one of President Ford's "WIN" buttons.

In fact, the Federal Office of Consumer Affairs recommends seven ways to reduce fuel consumption in household heating through energy conservation in a pamphlet available by sending 35 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

Here are the seven suggestions:

—Weatherstrip and caulk around all windows. Cold draft coming from windows or doors on a windy winter night are signs of air leaks. That draft can mean 15 to 30 percent of your heating bill is due to warm air leakage or cold air infiltration.

The remedy is to install weatherstripping at movable joints and caulk the frames of all windows and doors. When you notice a light mist or fog developing on the windows in cold weather, you'll know you've provided the highest feasible humidity conditions.

—Maintain an efficient heating plant. Burning fuel completely requires sufficient air for combustion. Have the heat exchange surfaces of your heating plant cleaned when needed, clean and refor the comfort of your family.

Install storm windows or insulating glass. Storm windows cut in half the heat that is lost through the windows of your home. They will also reduce the difference between room air and window temperature which makes you chilly when you're sitting near a window.

Within a decade, storm windows will pay for themselves and begin returning to a yearly dividend of savings on your heating bill.

Install overhead and sidewall insulation. Insulate the ceiling under an unfloored and well-ventilated attic by placing batts on the ceiling and spreading "loose insulation" over it. If the attic is floored, raise a few floor boards and blow or rake in loose insulation; six inches is the optimum thickness.

According to the Federal Energy Administration, if 15 million homes with inadequate attic insulation were upgraded to six inches, about 40,000 barrels of heating oil would be saved each winter day, about 4 percent of the total oil demand for residential heating.

—Maintain an efficient heating plant. Burning fuel completely requires sufficient air for combustion. Have the heat exchange surfaces of your heating plant cleaned when needed, clean and replace air filters when they become loaded with dust or lint, and have a serviceman check the combustion air adjustment.

Underwriters Laboratories suggests a furnace inspection at the beginning of each heating season to minimize fuel consumption and assure safe operation.

Close window draperies down cut in half the minor step in reducing winter heat loss, a closed drapery will make people sitting near a window much more comfortable.

Close and seal all openings into attic. Warm indoor air will flow upward into an attic if there are openings around loosely fitting attic stairway doors, fixtures, plumbing vents or air ducts. Outdoor air vents in attics and crawl spaces should be kept open during the winter to prevent moisture condensation.

Turn off lights and major appliances when they're not in use and repair leaking hot water faucets. A leak of one drop per second adds up to 650 gallons a year!

A packet of fuel-saving ideas for homeowners has been prepared by the University of Illinois researchers. Included in the packet are publications on "Living With the Energy Crisis," "Insulation for Heating," "Heating the Home," "Fuels and Burners," and "Cooling Systems for the Home."

The packet may be obtained by sending $1 to the Small Homes Council-Building Research Council, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 1 E. St. Mary's Rd., Champaign, Ill., 61820.

an agreement by which the mastarms will be taken down, returned to the manufacturer and revived by welding two additional struts into the bracket forms.

He said this procedure, along with the work of re-installing the mastarms and completing electrical connections should take from 30 to 50 days.

Brewer said the differences over mastarm designs has delayed activation of the signals since about mid-September when reconstruction of the stage of placing the new lights in operation.

According to Brewer, specifications for the mastarms in the contract bidding did not stipulate design of the mastarms, but called for mastarms that "would meet approval of state highway engineers."

State approval of the mastarms apparently has required five struts in the equipment since last February, although mastarms with three struts met state acceptance prior to that time, Brewer explained.

Kronst said that state approval of mastarms erected in signalization projects in recent months has given the Highway district "many problems." He said changes in the mastarm construction have been required in a number of different communities where new traffic signals have been installed.

Elections

Daniel Sparks, 2320 Lynch Ave., State St., Yecsi, 2320 Woodlawn Ave.

On the basis of petitions issued, three candidates are in the field in each of the First and Second Wards, and two each in the Third and Fourth Wards.

At yesterday, Incumbent Alderman Walter Norn of the Fifth Ward and Alderman Gerald Farney of the Sixth Ward were without opposition.

Incumbent Alderman Everett Morlen of the First Ward is circulating petitions as a candidate for re-election. Petition forms also have been issued to Bernard "Bud" Jenkins, 2447 Monroe Ave., and James C. Stuart, 3001 E. 3rd St.

Sam Whitmer, incumbent alderman of the Second Ward is circulating petitions as a candidate for re-election, while petitions also have been obtained by Norman Alexander, 2637 State St. and Melvin "Red" Hill, 2326 Delmar Ave., as candidates in that ward.

In Ward Three, Alderman Clyde Boyd is seeking re-election. He is expected to be opposed by Chris Von Nida, 2332 E. 25th St., who has obtained petition forms.

Claude Green, incumbent alderman of Ward Four, is expected to be opposed by Warren Decatur, 2229 Colgate Ave., who is reported circulating petitions.

Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach also will hold city and village elections next year, but the balloting in those communities will be held April 15, two weeks later than the Granite City election. The filing period for those elections will open Jan. 6 and continue through Feb. 10 with a Feb. 15 withdrawal date.

across the board controls on prices, wages and profits, if lesser measures fail, and a comprehensive tax reform program, including a tax cut for low-to-moderate-income families and closing some tax loopholes.

The policy statement is a declaration of goals which the Democratic party will strive to attain, Wolf said.

Other aspects of the economic improvement program adopted at the Mid-Term Conference, included:

Support for an expanded program of public service jobs free of unfair and unworkable restrictions.

Assistance for the housing industry with a "general easing of credit by the Federal Reserve without throwing judgment and caution to the winds," and development of more selective methods of allocating credit to productive enterprises.

Accelerated research and development of new energy sources, such as nuclear, solar, oil shale, coal gasification, coal liquefaction and geothermal steam, among others, plus a mandatory system of energy conservation.

A comprehensive system of national health insurance; consumer protection and no-fault insurance.

Every Democratic presidential hopeful was present at the conference, Wolf said. From Senators Henry Jackson, Edmund Muskie, Lloyd Bentsen, Adlai Stevenson and Hubert Humphrey to Governors George Wallace and Jimmy Carter.

The biggest flurry among the delegates occurred, however, when Sen. Ted Kennedy appeared on the convention floor, Wolf recalled.

The spacious Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, with its multi-levels available for press, radio and television work areas, meeting sites and hospitality rooms, comfortably housed the Mid-Term Conference.

The Illinois delegation was headquartered in the new Sheraton Royal Hotel, which had opened its doors to the public only two weeks earlier, Wolf said.

Other delegates from Madison County's 23rd District were Buddy Davis of Wood River and Winnie Lippman of Arlington Heights, Granite City.

ILLINOIS' OUTDOOR HERITAGE

PHEASANT (Phasianus Colchicus)

Pheasants are found in most of the northern half of Illinois, their prime range being east central. Weighing from 2 1/2 to 3 pounds they measure up to 30 inches in length, including tails of 18 to 20 inches. The combination of size, blue-green head, red cheek patch and usually white neck ring makes it impossible to mistake a cock-pheasant for any other Illinois bird. Ringneck pheasants were introduced from China into Oregon in the 1880s, and into Illinois in 1909. Ground nesting birds, the hens lay about 11 eggs which generally hatch in late June. Pheasants are ground loving birds and will often run to avoid danger, rather than fly. Chicks subsist on insects while adult birds eat insects, corn and other small grains. In Illinois the male birds are hunted from mid-November through mid-January.

Computer service for students

High school students in southern Illinois soon may be studying foreign language grammar or some other subject by computer, along with students from five state universities, if plans being made by the Mid-Illinois Computer Cooperative (MICC) are successful.

The computer cooperative has been formed by the universities, with operations headquarters at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Other members of the cooperative are Eastern Illinois University, Illinois State University, Sangamon State University and Western Illinois University. The five institutions have pooled resources to finance the cooperative.

If all goes well, a Control Data Corp. Cyber 7214 computer leased by MICC will begin providing instructional services to charter members of the cooperative and other schools willing to rent time on Jan. 15. The cooperative will provide 24-hour-a-day service and leased time will be available to public or private educational institutions at all levels from elementary school through graduate school.

John Ellsworth, assistant vice-president for academic affairs at SIUE and chairman of the MICC board, says cost-sharing through the cooperative will make it possible for the universities to provide computer instructional services to their students which none could afford trying to do alone.

Other schools which participate through lease-time arrangements will also share in the saving, Ellsworth says. "Without" the MICC arrangement, costs would be prohibitive, with MICC, instructional programs will be affordable in the beginning and much less expensive later as high volume usage is developed," Ellsworth says.

Instructional uses of MICC computing will probably fall into four categories, Ellsworth explains. These are use of computer time by students for problem-solving exercises in various courses, computer assisted instruction, computer science and programming classes, and courses in development of computer applications for business and industry. The cooperative will also make it possible for students and researchers to use the computer as a tool to gain access to basic research data which will be stored in the computer.

Ellsworth says MICC "hopes to be in the forefront in the development of computer assisted instruction and the costs through planned high volume usage." The computer is expected to be of great value in courses such as grammar, mathematics and science, where tutorial instruction can be stored in the computer. Students taking courses of this type may be able to skip classroom attendance entirely, using the computer for instruction.

Each of the cooperating universities will have six terminals on their campuses linked to the computer, being installed at SIUE by long-distance telephone lines. All except Illinois State University will have cathode ray tube devices which will flash computer questions and answers on a screen resembling that of a television set. Illinois State will use conventional teletypes with the central computer. A card reader and line printer will also be available at each campus.

Access to the MICC computer will be available to any educational institution on a lease-time arrangement. For less than $200 a month in rental service fees a school will be able to tie in to the computer network. Each additional school will be required to provide its own terminal and pay for telephone service to an MICC campus.

At least one of the MICC founders is already planning an experimental project. The Economics Department at Illinois State University will lease 10 additional ports to the computer for a project to be

How each of the universities will use the computer will be determined by their faculties, Ellsworth explains. "One of the values of having the computer is that it will provide increased access to computer time at all the campuses. Instructors who have wanted to use computers but have not been able to get time on their campus units now will have access to a system installed specifically to support the instructional process," Ellsworth said.

The Cyber 7214 computer being installed by the cooperative will be able to handle 120 simultaneous users. Richard Guffy, director of data processing at SIUE and also a MICC board member, says the unit will be able to solve a typical computer problem in less than one second.

EXPOSED FILM from The Daily Alestle's new phototypesetting machines is developed in a few seconds in an automatic processor. The product is finished copy, ready for paste-up on pages, which will be photographed for offset reproduction of the student newspaper at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Operating the automatic film processor is Marylee Harsh of Granite City, a freshman at SIUE.

Glen Gibson dies at 77

Glen H. Gibson, 77, of 2916 Myrtle Ave., hospitalized since Monday, died at 6:30 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Born in Desloge, Mo., he resided in this area 35 years.

Mr. Gibson was employed as a burner at General Steel Industries for many years prior to his retirement in 1965. He was a member of the Boilermakers Union.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Viola Gibson; six daughters, Mrs. Carl (Doris) Allen, Martinez, Calif.; Mrs. Virginia Dwyer (Marilynn) Byrd and Mrs. Sharon Perjak, both of Granite City; Mrs. Eugene (Alice) Hecht of Jefferson City, Mo.; and Miss Carol Gibson of Vallejo, Calif.; three sons, Robert Gibson, Chicago, and George and David Gibson, both of Granite City; one brother, Clarence Gibson, Gray Summit, Mo.; 24 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Crashes into auto showroom

Leo Morman, 49, of 1520 Clark Ave., was charged with reckless driving after his car struck a parked auto and crashed into the front windows of B. E. Hohl Ford, 1837 Madison Ave., at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Morman suffered minor injuries but did not require hospital treatment.

Witnesses said Morman's auto was northbound on Westchester Drive and struck the parked car of Charles Ishum, 3412 Lydia Lane. Morman's car then crossed the oncoming lanes and hit the building, breaking two large sections of plate glass.

Assessors organize

The Madison County Assessors Association was organized at a meeting at the courthouse at Edwardsville. The organization is made up of township assessors whose main objective is to promote legislation geared to the taxpayer and the continuation of home rule in the townships.

The assessors went on record saying, "We are opposed to any legislation that would eliminate any of the elected 24 township assessors of Madison County."

Officers elected were Frank Riedelberger, Venice Township assessor, president; George J. Campbell, Alton Township assessor, vice-president; and Thelma Huston, Pin Oak Township assessor, secretary.

News notes

President Gerald Ford told top corporate leaders Wednesday that rising price pressures are beginning to ease and inflation "will move steadily down from the intolerable double-digit level." He said he will not "take a 10-degree turn from inflation fighting to recessionary pumping."

In answer to Democratic demands for wage and price controls, gasoline rationing and other compulsory steps, Mr. Ford said he will not be panicked into seeking short-term panaceas at the expense of long-term success. Remaining within the "fundamental principles," he said he will offer by mid-January "a number of new or alternative measures to augment and update the economic package I placed before the Congress two months ago."

Former Nixon White House political advisor Harry S. Dent has been sentenced to 18 months in prison for conspiracy to obstruct justice after he pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of violating federal political campaign contribution laws. Dent, 44, resigned recently as general counsel to the Republican National Committee.

Area skywatchers will be treated to a partial eclipse of the sun and a special meteor shower Friday. The partial eclipse will begin at 8:07 a.m. and reach its maximum eclipse will occur at 9:14 a.m. when 54 percent of the sun will be covered from view. The Geminid meteor shower will be visible Friday night and Saturday morning. Those with a clear sky will have a look at the sun directly or through a telescope. Doing so could result in serious eye damage.

Illinois Dept. of Public Instruction Michael J. Bakalis has warned of a possible takeover of the state education agency by Gov. Dan Walker's office.

In a strongly worded statement issued Wednesday, Bakalis, the last elected superintendent who will leave office Jan. 13, warned the new State Board of Education that there is "immediate danger of encroachment on personnel, budget and finance functions" of the education agency.

Reinstatement of the student council at Mascoutah High School is being sought through the federal courts by eight students, their parents and the American Civil Liberties Union. Mascoutah school officials say the students tried to operate as a political party and without faculty guidance or sponsorship. Seek building for mental health unit

The Family Development Program at the Quad-City Mental Health Center in Granite City, plans to expand its services to include a "Day Unit" for adolescents and their families.

The expansion will meet the need to provide better services to adolescents and their families who are in need of concentrated help from experienced family therapists, officials said.

At the present time, the program is without a facility. A large two-story house that will not require expensive repairs and is located in the Granite City area is needed.

Few funds are available for such a building and the center is looking for donation of a facility or someone willing to rent a building at a reasonable cost which would enable the program to provide the service. Anyone with such a building may contact Robert Carney, coordinator, at 877-4420.

Purvis Hayes, 74, succumbs

Purvis Hayes, 74, of 422 Mercedia Ave., Venice, died Monday at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

Survivors include four sons, Otis and John L. Hayes, both of Los Angeles, and Roy L. and Eugene Hayes, both of Memphis, Tenn.; four daughters, Mrs. Delores Thomas, Ruleville, Miss.; Miss Florence Hayes, Drew, Miss.; Mrs. Carrie Kirkland, Greenville, Miss.; and Miss Christine Hayes, Memphis; a sister, Mrs. Willie Smith of Chicago; and three brothers, Roy Hayes, Indianapolis, and Tom and Otis Hayes, both of Chicago.

The damaged auto was removed from the scene by Edward Brandes, owner of Ed's Standard service station, 2214 Edison Ave., another son of Mrs. Brandes.

Mrs. Brandes and a passenger in her auto, Mrs. Minnie Pike, 78, of 2148 Adams St., were injured. Mrs. Pike was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was admitted with a bruise over her right eye and a cut to her lower lip.

Mrs. Brandes later went to the hospital with a bruise to her right leg and was released following x-rays and treatment.

Funeral services were held Monday in O'Fallon, Ill., for Michael W. Baker, 28, who was killed in a crash involving a hair stylist at the Razor's Edge in Granite City before opening his own salon in St. Louis.

Mr. Baker was killed early Friday morning in a head-on collision with a pickup truck on West Main Street, Collinsville.

Driver of the second car, Donald J. Henderson, 23, of St. Louis, was treated at a hospital and released.

A resident here for several years, Mr. Baker worked at the local barber shop for three years. He opened his own hair styling salon, Headquarters, Ltd., in St. Louis about 18 months ago.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George P. "Mike" Baker of Carlyle, Ill.; a daughter, Renee Lynette Baker of Belleville; a brother Larry of Fairview Heights; sisters, Patti Lynn and Pamela Sue Baker, both at home; and a grand-mother, Mrs. Stella Denbow of Manila, Ark.

ENTER MINI-MART
An inventory will be conducted today to determine if anything was stolen during a break-in at the Mini Mart, 20th and Adams streets, which was noticed at 2:10 a.m. today. The lower glass in a front garage door was broken in gain entry.

IN HOSPITAL AFTER FALL

William Jacobs, 39, of 5445 Maryville Road, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday suffering a fractured elbow after he fell from a 45-inch ledge at Granite City Steel where he is employed as an annealing furnace operator.

Hodge is refused insurance license

The Illinois State Department of Insurance early this week refused to issue a license as an insurance broker to Orville Hodge of Granite City. Hodge said today that his attorneys plan to file a petition for review in the Circuit Court. Hodge was issued a state license as a Real Estate Broker a year ago. He said he had not learned the meaning of the department's refusal. "I'm glad that I had the opportunity for a hearing, but will take the matter further in the court," Hodge said.

CANNED FOODS COLLECTION. Both Granite City High North and South student councils are collecting canned goods for distribution to needy families. With appealing smiles, Debbie Rea and Cindy Myatt, both student council members at North, remind the parents that both schools would appreciate donations. (Press-Record Photo)

North, South students collect canned goods

The student councils of both Granite City High Schools are sponsoring Christmas baskets for needy families. All home rooms in each school has a brightly decorated box in which donations may be placed.

The student council members have contacted the Salvation Army and the School Board to obtain names of needy families.

The two student councils are conducting money-raising projects to buy turkeys for the Christmas turkeys.

On Dec. 19, student council members will fill the baskets in each home room, sort the canned goods, divide them equally among the baskets and then deliver the baskets to the homes.

"We hope every family that can give some food will make a donation and help us bring a little happiness to others," Mike Siebert, student council president at South, said.

Foreign students miss yule gathering with families

Foreign students attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville say family visitation and togetherness is the thing they miss most about not being home at Christmas time.

In many countries people make a major effort to return to their roots, the place they started from, during the holidays.

"If you can go home, no matter how far away you live, you always go back, usually to the place where you were born," Manuel Luna, student from the Dominican Republic, said. Luna believes that if there were no Christmas or a day for the people to get together to reunite themselves, they would create such a day.

It is so important to get together with family and friends in Beirut, Lebanon, where Morris Jahshan lives, that two or three days before Christmas are spent in family visitation. "It is tradition that the man of responsibility in the family goes to greet all members of the family, including cousins, nephews, grandparents, widows and orphans. By making others happy, you feel the essence in Christmas more," Jahshan said.

Only men do the visiting, Jahshan explained. Women must stay at home to receive guests from other families. "Everytime you go into a home, you are offered a special candy. I used to count how many homes I had visited by the amount of candy I had in my pocket," Jahshan said.

"Christmas is looked upon as a fest of peace and love. At Christmas many people with hard feelings forgive one another and forget the past," Jahshan said.

The people in the Dominican Republic have their own carols. "We are getting away from songs like 'Silent Night.' We are another people. We like to have our own kind of thing," Luna said. Carols are played with a different beat. Meringue music, Luna calls it. "The music is from the nativity, but not so sacred as the carols you have in the United States," he said.

Fork is the food identified with Christmas in the Dominican Republic. "Just like turkey in America for Thanksgiving, the pigs over there are for Christmas," Luna said.

Instead of writing to Santa, children in the Dominican Republic write to Rey (Spanish for "king") Melchor, one of the three kings. Luna said that was because the kings were the ones who brought gifts to Jesus. However, in the city of Santiago, children write letters to the child Jesus and put them under the tree by a nativity scene for the baby.

Like American children, children in the Dominican Republic also receive fruit for Christmas. The fruit is mostly grapes and apples imported from the United States. Many shops operate on the sidewalks during the holidays, selling fruit, toys, fire crackers and other fireworks, Luna said.

In Lebanon Christmas trees are also traditional, but most of them are imported from Europe. Lebanon is famous for being green, but the country is small. If they cut their own trees, Jahshan said, they soon would have no trees. "We don't want that green to go away so many Christmas trees are imported," he said. The Lebanese have both western and native carols, but most of their Christmas music is instrumental, Jahshan said.

Urge speedy control of health care costs

The board of directors of the American Association for Comprehensive Health Planning, a national organization representing area-wide and state agencies involved in comprehensive health planning, has urged Congress to act quickly to provide a legislative mandate for controlling health care costs, this region's alliance for Regional Community Health reports.

Citing the fact that health care costs have led inflation in the economy for each of the past eight years, the association voiced support for Senate and House bills which have been under development for more than two years.

These bills, S. 2994 and H. R. 16294, both cleared the appropriate committees on overwhelming votes. S. 2994 has been approved by the Senate and H. R. 16294 awaits floor action.

"These bills are being opposed by interests which are major contributors to escalating health care costs," according to AACHP President Charles D. House. "If the types of planning and resource allocation mechanisms embodied in this legislation are not enacted, the current inflation will only worsen with the enactment of national health insurance expected in the next Congress."

House pointed out that the cost of a semi-private room in a hospital has increased at an annualized rate of more than 30 per cent since the expiration of the Economic Stabilization Act in April. "Inadequate planning and poor control over the allocation of health services and facilities is a major contributor to these increases," House said. The expanded planning and development activities embodied in the pending legislation build upon the nationwide network of consumer-majority health planning agencies created since enactment of the federal "Partnership for Health" act in 1966.

In addition to strengthening the planning agencies' role in channeling federal funds into the health system, the bills would provide a basis for resource allocation activities in states and areas. Maldistribution of such resources is a major barrier to access for health consumers in many parts of the United States. "These mechanisms must be in place and operating before the nation can deal effectively with national health insurance," House said. "Or the result will be health care inflation beyond anything experienced to date in this country."

The AACHP Board consists of members from states representing consumer-majority area-wide and state comprehensive health planning agencies, and concerned national organizations. More than 180,000 citizen volunteers participate in the activities of the comprehensive health planning agencies.

Ambassadors to seek 54 Chamber members

The Ambassadors Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce led by Gene H. Sternberg Sr., chairman, met Monday to set goals for the new year.

They agreed on a new membership goal of 54 new memberships by Sept. 30, 1975. Names were assigned to cover commitments and it was agreed that the committee must be enlarged to accomplish the goal. Five names were suggested to the chairman and will be asked to serve.

Duties of the committee are making good will calls on Chamber members, securing new members, collecting delinquent dues where necessary, and serving as hosts at Chamber functions.

Sternberg said he hopes for six new memberships each month, selected from a list of approximately 100 prospects in the local area.

Hilltoppers host luncheon

Christmas carols were played in the background at a holiday luncheon served Tuesday to members of the Hilltoppers at St. John United Church of Christ.

The noon dinner, catered by Petr's Restaurant, was served to 38 members and two guests.

Otto Bueher and Mrs. Etta Locklear of Edwardsville. Recorded music was furnished by Mrs. Zimmerman and the Rev. Carl Eschenbrenner read a poem, entitled "How Far is it to Bethlehem."

A business meeting was convened at 1 p.m.

Members agreed to retain the same officers in 1975. They include: Carl Huenken, president; Louis Wille, treasurer; and Mrs. Helen Schaefer, secretary. Elected to newly created offices were Mrs. Dessie Knipping, vice-president; and Mrs. Vera Schillinger, substitute secretary.

Plans were made to donate $10 to the Salvation Army and $25 to the church fund. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buente contributed $5 for cards and stamps to be used by the organization.

Three members who are ill, include Mrs. Esther Werner, Mrs. Myrtle Landwehrmeier and Jess Schaefer, it was reported.

During the social hour gifts were exchanged and the December birthdays of Mesdames Talia Becker, Eulah Reis, Amanda Deutschman, Arthur Roman and Harry Buente were observed.

Christmas songs were sung by the group and the gathering closed with the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison.

BROWNIES GIVE FOOD, TOYS AND CLOTHING

Brownie Troop 908 participated in a Festival of Giving Sunday afternoon at the Nameoki School gymnasium.

Food items, which had been collected in a previous troop meeting, and toys and clothing for the needy were presented by four members of the troop — Liane Baker, Penny Ybarra, Lori Richardson and Angela Clements.

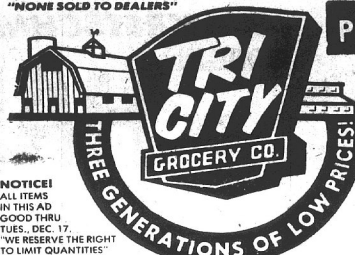

All items will be distributed by a neighborhood charity organization to needy families in this area. The festival was attended by scouts of the entire Neighborhood Five and their families.

Accident verdict

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury impaneled by William Sternberg, Madison County Deputy Coroner, Wednesday for an inquest into the fatal train-automobile accident which killed Dennis L. Hampton.

The 22-year-old resident of Glen Carbon, formerly of Granite City, was killed when his northbound auto collided with a Norfolk and Western Railway train on Route 157 at the railroad crossing just north of Highway 162 on Nov. 2.

More lawmakers likely to be indicted

By KEN WATSON

Press-Record

Springfield Bureau

Will it ever end?

That is the big question beneath the Statehouse dome in the wake of the indictment of 10 present and former legislators on bribery and other charges.

As lawmakers headed homeward after recessing the late fall session, reports filtered through the Capitol that as many as a dozen more past or present lawmakers may be indicted soon.

Federal grand juries are known to be hard at work in both Springfield and Chicago on cases involving legislators and others in state government.

As far as convictions, indictments, investigations into and revealing of corruption in various levels of government, Illinois has already set a modern track record which perhaps no other state can match.

Is the peak being reached? Or will the whole business keep going on for years to come?

One thing is certain: There are already enough trials scheduled and investigations under way to keep the courts functioning at full speed in Illinois for two more years or longer.

It is taken virtually for granted at the Statehouse that some legislative "big names" will be involved, that there will be a number of convictions, and that some severe sentences will be meted out. Some people are going to wind up in jail.

But will even that be the end of it? Illinois at the state level has a sad history of governmental corruption going back for decades. Sporadic efforts at reform have always failed.

Some thought the climax had come with the mid-1950s Republican scandal, which touched off an extensive reform movement.

But the Paul Powell shoebox scandal later made the 1950s look boring by comparison. The unthinkable also happened with the conviction and imprisonment of former Gov. Otto Kerner, once called the epitome of integrity in government.

The past year has seen emphasis on alleged wrongdoing focusing on members of the legislature. Is corruption so deeply rooted in Illinois tradition that it can never be rooted out?

Zip code is necessary

Postmaster Herbert Backs warned today that all mail addressed for delivery in Granite City should include the name and zip code "Granite City, Illinois, 62040."

The words "local" or "city" should not be used.

Not all of the mail is worked at the local post office and the use of "local" or "city" can result in delay or return of the mail, he said.

The Namekoi Station and the Mitchell Branch will be open Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until noon. The main office is open the regular hours during the Christmas period. All Christmas cards should be mailed by Dec. 18 for delivery by Christmas.

Probably not, and there are some sound and current reasons for believing that the trend is at last being reversed—and that scandal will be far less prevalent in this state in the future than it has been in the past.

Several factors contribute to this conclusion.

First, U.S. District Attorney James R. Thompson at Chicago has proven to be one of the most successful prosecutors ever to operate in this state.

His record of convictions of politicians is amazing, with every indication that he will be adding substantially to the string.

Not only does James Thompson function effectively at Chicago, but members of his excellent staff as well as able government attorneys and investigators from Washington are assigned to temporary duty in Springfield on occasion, tremendously beefing up the permanent staff under U.S. Attorney Donald Mackay.

Springfield as the Capital City and a court center hosts prosecutions on both the federal and circuit levels.

Government officials convicted on federal charges can anticipate stern sentencing from U.S. Judge Hamilton Wood, who has already displayed his attitude in such cases.

In sentencing a Charleston legislator to 15 months in prison about a year ago, Wood said that crimes involving public officials "are very serious matters" and that taxpayers have a right to expect that their government will be conducted honestly.

There also are major factors of intense press investigation and reporting of any suspected official misconduct, probably unprecedented in Illinois history. Behind this is the great force of public opinion, being felt in increasing strength in this post-Watergate era.

The people of Illinois at last seem tired of their state's reputation for dishonesty in public office. They want something done about it. The tools are there and will be used.

Perhaps most important of all, any who might otherwise be tempted to violate their trust are aware of the new forces designed to act in the public belief. They are afraid to steal. It will be years before Illinois can build a reputation for high integrity in government. But the time will come. The momentum is already well under way.

Eight hospitals in disaster drill

An area-wide disaster drill involving eight hospitals, including St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City, was held during the weekend in exercises for treatment facilities and transportation of mock casualty victims.

The drill was conducted and coordinated by the ACHES (Area Coordinated Hospital Emergency Service) Saturday. Hospitals taking part, in addition to St. Elizabeth, included Alton Memorial, Alton State Hospital, Jersey Community Hospital at Jerseyville, St. Anthony at Alton, St. Joseph at Alton, Utant Memorial at Greenville, and Wood River Township Hospital.

A simulated explosion occurred at the ACHES-BI products division of Madison County at approximately 7:30 a.m.; separate automobile accidents also occurred on the same date in Jersey Community at approximately 7:40 and in Greenville at approximately 8:04 a.m.

At 8:06 a.m. St. Elizabeth Hospital received a call through the switchboard for the hospital to be in a state of readiness to receive casualty victims from the disaster area.

At 8:18 a.m. St. Elizabeth Hospital activated the hospital disaster plan after consultation with the emergency room head nurse, physician in charge of emergency room, nurse director of hospital and the disaster chief, since an estimated 35 to 40 victims would be involved.

St. Elizabeth received two victims by ambulance carrier from Utant Memorial Hospital, Greenville, and two casualties from Wood River Township Hospital by Medco Ambulance Service. Prior to receiving the disaster alert, the St. Elizabeth emergency room was treating four simulated victims from a local multiple accident.

St. Elizabeth transferred two victims to St. Joseph Hospital, Alton, due to full hospital occupancy, by Mercer Ambulance Service, Granite City.

The coordination of the exercise was under the direction of Bernard Pinney, safety director and disaster chief; Mrs. Iva Gooding, RN, nurse director; Mrs. Evelyn Walker, RN, head nurse of the emergency room; Emergency Room Physician Dr. Bayraktar on duty at time of alert. Physicians within the hospital responded to the emergency room to assist with victims under the direction of the nurse director.

Steve Missey, the hospital state trauma coordinator, coordinated radio communications through the Egyptian Radio Club, which supplied a radio-equipped truck-van since all area hospitals are not on the Illinois state trauma mercer radio system.

Missey also assisted in the Triage area where victims were diagnosed and sent to respective ward areas, such as life-saving, x-ray, and the trauma care facility.

The all clear was sounded at 10:30 a.m.

10 sentenced in rail yard thefts; 3 get 22-year terms

Ten men, including nine former employees of the Terminal Railroad Association, were sentenced Tuesday to federal prison terms ranging from four to 22 years for their parts in the thefts of items valued at about $1.7 million dollars from railroad freight cars in the Madison rail yards between May 1971 and October 1973.

Drawing 22-year terms were Willie Albert Mize, 41, Collinsville, David M. Nordstrom, 32, Wood River, and William T. Ryan, 33, Collinsville.

Mize was sentenced to nine years for receiving stolen goods and ammunition, nine years for selling stolen goods and four years for conspiracy. He was the only man sentenced who was not a railroad employee. Ryan and Nordstrom were sentenced to serve nine years each for receiving and selling stolen goods, nine years each for theft and four years each for conspiracy.

Others sentenced were: Thomas "Pancho" Reyes, 50, Belleville, five years for theft and four years for conspiracy; Glenn A. Frederick, 26, Caseyville, four years for theft and four years for conspiracy; to be served concurrently; Bernard P. Reid, 41, Belleville, nine years for theft and four years for conspiracy; William B. Watts, 26, Cahokia, nine years for theft and possession of stolen goods and four years for conspiracy.

Teddy R. Crouch, 39, Cahokia, nine years for theft and four years for conspiracy; Donald R. Carlyle, 27, Collinsville, nine years for theft and four years for conspiracy; and William L. Evans, 25, O'Fallon, nine years for theft and four years for conspiracy.

All but Mize were freed on appeal bonds.

AUTOMOBILE LOOTED

Two speakers and 10 tape recordings were stolen from the auto of J. N. Stagner, 33b Jeanette Drive, Arlington Heights, parked at his home, it was reported at 5 p.m. Monday.

Ray Edwards to head Madison-Venice Rotary

Ray Edwards was elected president of the Madison-Venice Rotary Club at the group's Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets, Madison.

Edwards will take office in July.

Others elected were Robert Vickers, vice-president, Fred Schmidt, secretary; Al Hudzik, treasurer; Charles Foley, assistant treasurer, and William Briggs, sergeant-at-arms.

New members installed were Melvin Bickel, Milton Morris and Foley.

Members of the board of directors who will take office in July are Wayne Scannell, Anthony Zedolik, John Haynes, Webber Starkey and John Blasingame who is retiring president.

The annual Christmas program will be presented next Wednesday by 135 Madison students under the direction of Mrs. Valerie Stevens of the Madison schools vocal music department.

Police testing set

Applicants wishing to become Granite City policemen will take a written examination at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, 21st Street and Washington Avenue. The deadline for applying to take the test was Dec. 9.

Ben Zimring fined $6,500 in tax case

The former operator of Zimring Co., a vending machine business in Madison, was fined $6,500 Tuesday in Springfield for filing fraudulent state sales tax returns, Robert H. Alphin, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue, announced.

Ben Zimring, 52, of Olivette, Mo., pleaded guilty in November to filing fraudulent Illinois sales tax returns for a 13-month period during 1972 and 1973, Alphin said.

Director Alphin said Zimring has paid a total of $62,256 in back taxes, penalties and interest to the state.

Sangamon County Circuit Court Judge I. J. Feuer sentenced Zimring to the fine.

Minimum wage rises Jan. 1

About 1.5 million workers in Illinois will receive pay increases when the minimum wage in the state increases Jan. 1.

For workers over age 18, the minimum wage will increase from $1.75 per hour to $1.90 and for workers under 18, the minimum goes up from $1.40 to $1.55.

In 1976, the minimum wage is to increase to $2.10 per hour for persons over 18 and $1.75 for those under that age.

Probation for two in drug case

David Louis Pierson, 21, of the 2100 block of Illinois Ave., and Gordon Pierson, 35, of the 2500 block of Revere's Route, have been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve two years probation. Both pleaded guilty last week to unlawful possession of a controlled substance (cocaine) during a drug investigation which led to the arrests of nine persons April 20.

The sentences were pronounced by Judge Victor Moselle.

Also in Judge Moselle's court at Edwardsville, a jury yesterday found Janice Turner, 32, of Rural Route Two, Granite City, guilty of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance Feb. 16.

She is to be sentenced next month.

Judge Moselle accepted a plea of guilty to attempted burglary from Cornelius "Tootie" Bell of Grenzer Homes, Madison. He attempted to enter Garrett & Sons Tavern, 801 Jackson St., Madison, June 25, with intent to commit a theft, according to the court. He is to be sentenced Jan. 3.

Chief Criminal Judge John Gitehoff has accepted a guilty plea from Salvatore Ocena Jr., 32, of the 3100 block of Wayne Avenue, for arson.

He admitted setting fire to the B. J. Beauty Shop, Johnson Road and Terrace Lane, June 2, causing extensive damage to the beauty shop and Suburban Barber Shop in the same building.

He also is to be sentenced Jan. 3.

Also to appear before Judge Gitehoff Jan. 3 for sentencing is Robert Dean Melson, 20, of 2732 Saratoga St., who pleaded guilty to burglary at Key Rexall Drug Store, 6 Gaslight Plaza Shopping Center, Pontoon Beach, Aug. 22. He was found inside the store with satchels of drugs on the floor nearby.

The court has dismissed an armed robbery charge against Dennis W. Kent, 22, of Rural Route One, Granite City, and theft charges against Dillard E. Carroll, 39, and Terry J. Carroll, 19, both of Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, and Elvin B. Simpson, Rural Route One, Granite City.

TAKE GUNS, COINS
Guns, coins and jewelry, worth a total of about $1,000, were stolen from the home of Eugene Noud, 710 McCambridge Ave., Madison, it was reported Monday. Entry was gained by forcing open a rear door.

Investing in gold, silver

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW NOW ABOUT GOLD AND SILVER; edited by Louis E. Carabini; Arlington House; 176 pages; $8.95.

Reviewed by FRANK MACOMBER

These are days when it really matters how you invest your money. So Mr. Carabini, an expert on gold and silver and their values, has put together the knowledge of men who have spent their lives either in the gold and silver markets or studying the nation's economy.

There are no pictures but lots of good, hardheaded common sense in this book. If it doesn't give you an insight into how to invest your money and what might happen before times get better, then read it again, because you missed something along the way.

Remember the silver dime that used to buy a cup of coffee? Today it's worth 35 cents. And how about the U.S. $20 gold piece, also known as a double eagle? It's worth more than $250 now.

In his introduction, Carabini points out that gold and silver prices have tripled during the last two years. He has credentials for this statement, for in the last eight years Carabini has built a $270 million business in four countries from what started as a tiny coin store.

Unhappily most of the expert contributors to the book foresee a depression or serious recession for this country in the next few years.

And they believe the safest way to take cover from the heaviest of its impacts is to invest in silver or gold or both. A flood of books on gold and silver is hitting the market these days, as the day arrives — Jan. 1 — when Americans can buy or sell gold after a ban of nearly 40 years.

Carabini believes he has taken the best of what is being written about this fascinating subject and put it under one cover. He may just have done it, too.

Shower honors Mrs. Kostecki

Mrs. Debbie Kostecki, 2320 St. Clair Ave., was complimented at a cradle shower given this week by Mrs. Betty Courtwright, Mrs. Pauline Craycraft, Mrs. Nancy Sabo, Miss Kathy Lane and Mrs. Ruth Sabo of East St. Louis.

The event was held in the home of the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Portell, 2924 Edgewood Drive. Yellow, pink and blue appointments were used to decorate the rathskeller and gift table.

Guests attending were Mary Lou Monroe, Connie Young, Tonya Monroe, Imogene Biggs, Marie Wilson, Joan Garber, Cheryl Crawford, Barbara Hesseldenz, Bonnie Marritt, Mary Layton, Louise Jones, Millie Stoum, Katie Watters, Wanda Sabo, Dorothy Sam, Sherry Stefanoff, Natalie Wilkinson, Donna Wright, Barbara Shelton, Donna Kostecki, Carol Marshall, Chris Kostecki, Judy Gerbac, Stephanie Gerbac, Debbie Miskelley, Janice Garber, Donna Patterson, Carl Ann Crawford, Paula Karn.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Ada McAlexander and Diane Legendri, both of East St. Louis; Loral Cox, Hazelwood, Mo.; Sherrill Lippincott, Alton; Brenda Sabo, St. Louis; Diane Sabo and Katherine Davis, Cahokia; and Sophie Evanoff, Collinsville.

MARKET ROBBED

Three men described as between the ages of 19 and 20 robbed Gaskie's Confectionery, 1520 Fifth St., Madison, at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday, of $200 in cash and several cartons of cigarettes. They fled from the scene by auto. The three entered the store, distracted the clerk and made off with the money.

FENCE IS DAMAGED

About 300 feet of chain-link fencing was downed in front of the 2400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes on Nameoki Road by a hit and run motorist. It was reported at 1:15 a.m. today. Granite City police are seeking witnesses to assist them in locating the motorist responsible.

Lessons still can be learned from some of Aesop's fables

By HELEN M. PAGEL

Sooner or later, for birthday or Christmas, you were practically certain to receive a book of Aesop's Fables if you were a child 50 or 60 years ago. Parents and teachers in those days never lost an opportunity to drench all children with sugarcoted wisdom in the firm belief that some of it was bound to stick to even the most uncooperative youngster. And just possibly they were right.

Even the school readers of that period always contained a few of the fables and usually the children loved them. There was the story of the town mouse and the country mouse, for instance. Did anyone ever get through school without that period without learning that story?

In those days it was quite the fashion to act out the stories in school readers and this was a favorite because there was so much chance for real dramatic talent. It was a question which was the most fun, to take the part of one of the mice and come sneaking into the dining room, or to be the cat or the girl with the broom and spring from some hiding place upon the hapless mice and send them scampering for their lives.

And whether they realized it or not, the children did learn the moral of the story and everybody agreed that it was better to have beans and bacon in peace than cakes and ale in fear.

Even today you hear people using such expressions as "sour grapes," "dog in the manger," "a wolf in sheep's clothing" or "put your shoulder to the wheel." But how many of them know that they are quoting Aesop? But had they owned a book of Aesop's Fables they would have known about the fox who tried and tried to reach a luscious looking bunch of grapes, and when he failed, walked away saying, "I don't really want the grapes. They are probably sour anyway."

Or they would have known about the dog who made his bed in the cow's manger and refused to allow the cow to eat any of the hay although the dog himself could not eat it. Of course, that was a dog and people don't do such selfish things, do they?

And there was the wolf who dressed himself in sheepskin and looked so much like a sheep that he could wander into the flock and pounce upon unsuspecting sheep and kill them so cleverly that even the shepherd wasn't suspicious. That was another thriller to act out, but in this case there was no doubt about the leading role.

Everybody wanted to be the wolf. But of course things are different in real life.

All the children knew about the farmer whose cart was stuck in the mud and he and his horse couldn't move it. But along came Hercules and "put his shoulder to the wheel" and in no time at all the cart was out of the mud-hole and ready to travel on. They had "good guys" in those days, too.

Then there was the story about the cat who was out of the house and ready to travel on. They had "good guys" in those days, too. Then there was the story about the cat who was out of the house and ready to travel on. They had "good guys" in those days, too.

one about the wind and the sun who had a dispute as to which one could make a certain traveler remove his coat, and everyone knew how the genial warmth of the sun accomplished what all the wind's bluster failed to do.

And was there anyone who didn't know the story of the hare and the tortoise, and which one finally won the race and why? Or the one about the frog who couldn't stand it because the ox was bigger than he was and so blew himself up until he exploded and that was the end of him?

Rather quaint, old-fashioned stories — or are they?

Eight Yule customs rated as nation's most popular

By JODY FREEMAN

If you were to choose the eight customs which are most associated with Christmas, what would they be?

In 1940, Horace J. Gardner listed these in his "Let's Celebrate Christmas." They were the same, he said, as the ones he had listed 25 years previous to that: "First and foremost is its religious significance," then came hanging the mistletoe and burning the Yule log; the Christmas tree, the Christmas carol; the greeting card; the Christmas stocking, and Santa Claus himself.

In 1973, these remain constant among fickle humans. The pace has quickened, but, with the energy crisis, it may slow down. Where children are concerned, customs may differ from country to country, but Christmas remains the same—a time of joy. And through these customs, they can learn much history, both religious and temporal. At probably no other time will teaching be so easy and delightful.

Gardner called Christmas "One of the two most solemn events of all history" for Christians. Lengthy preparations in the season of Advent can be proposed as an imitation of Mary's long wait for the Christ child's birth.

Early Christians did not celebrate His birthday due to their distaste over the orgy celebrations held by the pagans. But as Christianity spread and paganism declined, Christ's followers set up a search to determine the date He was born.

St. Cyril made the search for Pope Julian who chose Dec. 25 in the year 350 A.D. — not the date celebrated by the Eastern Church. This was also the date of the festival of the winter solstice — when the retreating sun turns again and renews the earth — and shows the wedding of old to new customs, so typical of our Christmas. The new Christians would celebrate the day as the coming of "The Light of the World."

Two other pagan rites which were "adopted" were the mistletoe and the burning of the Yule log.

The Druids, Celtic priests in Ancient Britain and Ireland before their Christianization by St. Patrick, venerated the mistletoe. The Yule log was burned by the Scandinavians at the feast of the winter solstice in honor of their god Thor. In England, it burned Christmas Eve. In their big halls, they let it burn to just a remnant and then put it away until the next year when it would be used to light the new log.

The Christmas tree custom dates back to German origins. There are many stories, songs and legends which children can read or hear about the Christmas tree. It may date back to heathen tree worship; to the medieval custom of greeting guests with trees of lighted candles; or to Martin Luther, who was inspired by the stars on Christmas Eve to place lights on a tree. In England, the first tree was in Queen Victoria's time. In America, the German immigrants brought the custom from Europe and the early settlers quickly took it up. Some of the carols we sing date back to the 14th Century and young caroling groups keep the custom alive year after year.

History dates the mid-19th Century as the beginning of the custom of sending Christmas cards to friends and associates. Card art is often a reproduction of great paintings or original art by contemporary artists.

Children can take in the old and the new, the serious and whimsical, the sacred and profane, the flights of imagination. A house hung with Christmas cards is different from their everyday one. Suddenly, it is filled with other people's forms of self-expression.

When it comes time for hanging the Christmas stockings, the story of how the good children are rewarded by Santa Claus gets told and retold. Wooden shoes are used in parts of France, Holland and Germany for the same purpose — gifts from Santa's "good" boys and girls. Woe to the naughty child. He gets lumps of coal.

Santa himself arrived in New York, brought there by Dutch settlers. He was a thin and ascetic bishop until Clement Moore changed him for all time in "The Night Before Christmas." His popularity spread throughout America to Europe and remains steadfast to this day — a fact unmatched by any modern hero.

Have a fire-free holiday

By RON WELLS

The Christmas tree, symbolizing the beauty and joy of the holiday season, can easily become the instrument of destruction and death.

At one time during the Christmas season almost every newspaper will carry the grim account such as: "A 17-year-old girl died from smoke inhalation and burns she suffered last night when an electrical short circuit started a fire in a dried-out Christmas tree, which quickly engulfed the residence."

The insurance industry states that fires related to Christmas trees and decorations result in about $5 million worth of property damage a year.

"It is all such a tragic and avoidable waste," said Milton Mays, president of The Continental Insurance Companies. "With the wide range of safe holiday products and materials available, there is no reason why everyone cannot have a fire-free and decorative holiday. All it takes is observing a few common-sense safety practices."

Some safety tips Mays suggested for this Yuletide season are:

— When selecting a natural Christmas tree make sure you pick one that is fresh and not dried out as evidenced by brittle branches or falling needles. Dried-out trees are highly combustible.

— When setting up the tree, cut off a diagonal piece one inch above the original cut and set the trunk in a small container of water to keep the tree moist and prolong its life.

— Make sure the tree is firmly supported and placed in such a position that if it were knocked over, it would not fall near a fireplace or block a room entrance.

— When unpacking last year's light systems, look for worn insulation, loose bulb sockets and broken plugs. On outdoor lights see that the weatherproof cords and fixtures are intact.

— Lights used on the tree should have an Underwriters Laboratory seal affixed to indicate the lighting has been safety-tested against fire and electrical shock.

— In choosing decorations other than lighting only non-flammable materials should be used, including flocking for the tree. Cotton, tissue paper, some foamed plastics and glass wool (angel hair) are highly flammable and should be kept away from lighted candles.

— If you desire to keep a natural tree up until New Year's Day, the tree probably shouldn't be put up until a week or so before Christmas to avoid having a dried-out tree which presents a fire hazard. The tree should be kept outside if purchased earlier than a week before Christmas if it is to remain up until New Year's Day.

— When the tree is taken down, it should be chopped up and put out for the trash man as soon as possible.

— Do not put any kind of electrical decorations on a metal artificial tree. Instead, use indirect lighting. Be sure plastic artificial trees are labeled "slow burning" by Underwriters Laboratory.

— For outside lighting displays, use only American-made products as some of the foreign-made brands do not always measure up to U.S. safety standards.

— Turn off all electrical displays when leaving home.

— Promptly dispose of all flammable boxes and wrapping paper after toys and other gifts are removed.

— Select nonflammable and electrically safe toys for children. Electrically powered toys should bear the Underwriters Laboratory seal of approval.

— Be careful not to overload electrical circuits and insure that household wiring is in good shape to handle expected increases in the electrical load during the holiday season.

"It can be a safe and memorable Christmas if we all use a little common sense and take these basic precautions," Mays said.

NEW PRESIDENT OF Elite Hairdressers Affiliate
33, Mrs. Brenda Cant, right, is administered the oath of office by Carl Paoli, who served as installing officer at ceremonies conducted this week at the Collinsville Holiday Inn.

Elite Hairdressers install

Installation of officers of the Elite Hairdressers Affiliate 33 was conducted this week at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville.

Carl Paoli served as installing officer and Josie Lemus was in charge of the arrangements.

The 1974-75 officers are: Brenda Cant, president; Judy Brown, first vice-president; Sheila Morgan, second vice-president; Deane Birtley, secretary; Barbara Painter, treasurer; Lorraine Decatur, historian; and board members Juanita Fuchs, Carol Law, Josie Lemus, Betty Smith and Sally Roberts.

More than 70 cosmetologists, students and guests attended the installation dinner. A gift exchange was held followed by dancing.

Bell Ringers entertain circle

The Madison Senior Bell Ringers, directed by Mrs. Dorothy Lomberger, provided the entertainment at a Christmas party for members of Our Lady of Fatima Church.

The daughters of Isabella, held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Holiday decorations were used throughout the hall. The focal point was a tall Christmas tree adorned with brightly colored ornaments.

The Rev. Henry Mack gave the invocation and Mrs. Marianrose Lambert, regent, welcomed the 55 members and guests.

A buffet dinner was served by Mrs. Irma Manning, vice regent, and a committee, consisting of Mesdames Josephine Knezevich, Del Miller, Ann Macios, Vera Carey, Helen Smith, Wilma Nance and Miss Stephanie Ruzic.

Each member received a handmade Christmas flower made by Mrs. Carey. A poinsettia plant, donated by Goff and Dittman Florists, was awarded as a gift.

Seated at the main table were Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Peggy Crnkovich, the Rev. Mack, Mrs. Carey, Mrs. Clara Schilling, Miss Dorothy Hoedebeck, Miss Julieann Hoedebeck and State Regent Janet Hagen.

Lady of Guadalupe pageant at Sacred Heart Sunday

The Capuchin Troupe of St. Louis will present "Mary of the Americas," a pageant of Our Lady of Guadalupe, at Sacred Heart School Auditorium, 2800 Washington Ave. Sunday at 7 p.m.

The drama, in song, pantomime and narration, tells the story of the Blessed Virgin's special Christmas gift to America at Guadalupe, Mexico, 42 years ago. She then appeared on a barren hillside to Juan Diego, a humble, old Aztec Indian.

Juan Diego was 57 years old when the scene took place. During the remaining 16 years of his life, millions of pilgrims flocked to Guadalupe to see the miraculous image, an image of the Queen of Heaven, which she impressed by means unknown to modern science upon the old man's ragged cloak, and to hear Juan Diego recount the Blessed Event.

Juan Diego's part in this documented historic drama makes him a key figure in the greatest mass conversion in Christian History, for within ten years of the appearance more than seven million people were baptized. No shrine, other than St. Peter's in Rome, has more annual pilgrimages than that of Our Lady of Guadalupe.

The pageant lasts approximately 75 minutes. There is no admission charge for the performance, but free will offerings will be accepted. The players, who come from many parishes in the St. Louis area, are not paid, but there are some expenses for the troupe. Their Dec. 8 presentation was in Washington, Mo.

The Capuchin Franciscan Fathers of St. Louis sponsor the pageant, now in its fourteenth annual season.

Special Education group to meet

A meeting of the Parents of Special Education will be held at 7 p.m. tonight at Harris School, 7th Street and Alton Avenue, Madison, Mrs. Kathryn Hahn, president, reports.

The topic for the evening will be "Pre-School Education for the Handicapped" and will be presented by Mrs. Brenda Fife, Charles Jackson, Mrs. Jo Ann Townsen, teachers of Granite City and Madison and Mrs. Jim Schmucke, a parent.

Mrs. Hahn also announced skating parties are planned Dec. 16 and Jan. 20 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Stardust Rink. Both are sponsored by the Disabled American Veteran Post.

Class party at Second Baptist

The Progressive Class met at Second Baptist Church on Monday afternoon for a Christmas party, business session and birthday celebration.

Mrs. Naomi Ronney, class teacher, was the hostess and Mrs. Alene Reagan was in charge of the program.

Christmas carol songfest was led by Mrs. Mina Duggins with Jack Jenkins at the piano. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Georgia Mitchell and Mrs. Evelyn Smith.

Mrs. Naomi Burnett presented the devotions taken from Luke 2, verses 1 through 20.

Plans were made to send gifts to shut-ins during the holiday season. Those observing birthdays (this month) also were presented with gifts.

A potluck dinner was served to those named and to Mesdames Tile Naylor, Louis Jones, Dena Watson, Lena Stephens, Mamie Stroud, Laura Franklin, Virginia Taylor, Florence Paul, Ruby Clausen, Edith Wilson, Louise Wallace, Ruth Hassler, Gertrude Bundy, Minnie Cavins, Lena Bonivar, Virginia Ficker, Leola Harris and guests, Gladys Hudgens, Rosalie Jenkins, the Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Dutton, Betty Lewis, Velma Rausch, Dorothy Barnes and Mae Williams.

During the afternoon party, a gift exchange was held.

Nameoki ok's town hall bid

A contract is to be awarded to Ed Moore Construction Co. to remodel and expand the Nameoki Town Hall, the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors agreed Monday night.

The board opened two revised bids at Monday night's regular town board meeting which reduced the price by deleting any improvements to the existing building and by allowing the use of less costly materials and designs in the building addition.

The board met informally after the regular meeting was adjourned to review the bids with the architect, John Cohen. At that meeting, they decided to return to the original bids which were opened Nov. 25 and have the old building remodeling and the new addition in one package.

The initial Moore bid of $49,916 will be accepted by the board during a special meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday. That action and the auditing of the town books will be the only items of business at that meeting, it was decided.

The board also informally agreed to sign the contract with Moore at the Dec. 23 regular town board meeting, if the contract is approved by the township attorney.

The other bid opened Nov. 25 was from Henry Ross Construction Co. for $59,995. Bids opened Monday night, which excluded remodeling of the new building, were $40,174 by Moore and $46,737 by Ross.

The auditors agreed during the informal session Monday night that the town hall needs a new roof, a new air conditioner and a new furnace, improvements which could not be completed for the $9,742 difference between Moore's bid

Ten divorces granted

Ten area couples have obtained divorces in Madison County Circuit Court. Divorced were:

Zelma Loretta (Dunn) Elmore from Ruthel Wilford Elmore, both of Granite City. They were married Oct. 29, 1958. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name was restored.

Robert Whelan from Patricia Neil (Woodridge) Whelan, both of Granite City. They were married April 23, 1954. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of six children was granted to the husband.

Gregory Henn from Frances (Cline) Henn, both of Granite City. They were married Sept. 4, 1973. Desertion was charged. Her former name was restored.

Sherry Lynne (Mitchell) Tyler from John Patrick Tyler, both of Granite City. They were married March 19, 1971. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name was restored.

Douglas Kent Holcomb from East Alton from Carol Ann (Sasyk) Holcomb of Granite City. They were married Aug. 3, 1972. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of one child was granted to the mother.

Rhonda S. (Hoffman) Fexer

for the complete package and Moore's modified bid.

The Nov. 25 bids were rejected as being too far over the engineer's estimate of $30,000 to $35,000.

of Granite City from Craig A. Fexer of Jacksonville. They were married Sept. 1, 1973. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name was restored.

Billy Gene Thrasher from Barbara J. (Poole) Thrasher, both of Granite City. They were married Aug. 31, 1974. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name was restored.

Donald Melvin Mays Jr. from Terry Sue (McClanahan) Mays, both of Granite City. They were married Feb. 23, 1974. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name was restored.

Sheila (Wade) Mester of Granite City from Robert Mester of East St. Louis. They were married July 17, 1965. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of one child was granted to the mother.

Mary Jean Bush of Granite City from William Jurdon Bush of Jacksonville, Fla. They were married Nov. 11, 1969. Mental cruelty was charged.

Miss Debbie Pasley and Randy Waddell are wed

Miss Debbie Pasley and Randy L. Waddell exchanged wedding vows at 7 o'clock in the evening of Nov. 22 in ceremonies conducted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dover of Rural Route One, an uncle and aunt of the groom. The Rev. Gale Dover, also an uncle of the groom, performed the double ring ceremony. Nuptial selections were played by R. Max Cooper.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Pasley Sr., 1115 Madison Ave., Wood River. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Waddell, 11 Victoria Drive.

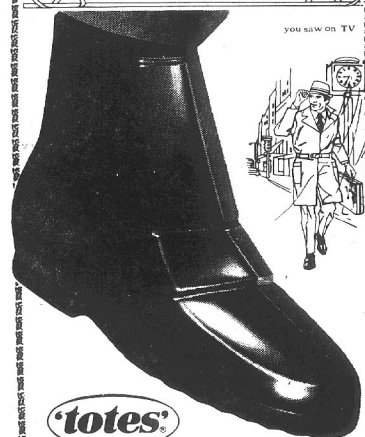

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor length gown of white organza over satin. The bodice was fashioned with a square neckline and puff sleeves trimmed in lace. A red velvet band defined the high rise waistline.

Her veil was attached to a headpiece of satin bows. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley interspersed with lace and trailing white satin streamers.

Miss Robbie Lewis, maid of honor, wore a yellow and white polyester dress made in Empire style. Delicate white lace edged the square neckline and puff sleeves.

Await selection of

(Illinois Metro East
Industrial Development Corporation)

A bill providing $15 million in state funds for a new civic center in the Madison-St. Clair Counties area has been given final approval by the Illinois House following similar action by the Illinois Senate. Appointment of a 12-member governing board and selection of a site for the center are expected in 1975.

A new rolling mill has been put into operation at the Olin Corp. East Alton brass mill. The mill has the capability of rolling copper and copper alloys as low as 0.006 of an inch. The new equipment is part of a multi-million-dollar expansion program at East Alton that will continue through 1980.

The construction start of a "new town" of Chapel Spring in Monroe County has been delayed six to 12 months due to current economic conditions in the U.S. Work was scheduled to begin on this major development next spring. The community, designed for 15,000 persons, is to be built on a 725-acre tract on the bluffs near Columbia.

State Representative Celeste Stiehl of Belleville has been appointed House minority whip. Nelson Hagauer has been re-elected to the position of chairman of the Madison County Board, and Walter Wetzel has been elected chairman of the three-member Monroe County Board.

Area political leaders are taking steps to determine ways in which all bridges across the Mississippi River at St. Louis can be made toll-free. Representatives of the Transportation Departments of both Illinois and Missouri will attend a January East-West Gateway Coordinating Council meeting to determine the feasibility of this idea. Use of toll bridges has dramatically declined in recent years, resulting in a lack of funds to meet maintenance and debt expenses.

City Regional Port in Granite City.

The two new tanks, each with a capacity of 4.2 million gallons, are adjacent to storage facilities recently built by the company at the port. Upon completion of this project, total liquid storage capacity at the Tri-City Port will be about 24 million gallons.

Bonds have been sold for the new $4 million Madison County jail. They were purchased by an investors syndicate headed by Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis. Design and architectural plans are proposed to be completed by mid-1975. The facility will be built on a site in downtown Edwardsville donated by businessmen.

THE FIRST STEPS OF

The President says that inflation is Domestic Enemy Number One. And here's how A & P is going to help you fight it. We're starting a new consumer program called Operation Aware. Because we're aware of the problems every consumer is facing today. These are the first steps we're taking to fight them.

1. AN EARLY WARNING SYSTEM ON PRICE INCREASES: THE AWARE LIST.

Every week we will voluntarily post a list of price increases such as those received from manufacturers a full seven days before we actually change our price. That gives you one week to purchase at the old price. And if we run out of the item before the date of the price change, we'll give you a Rain Check at the old price. You'll also find "Be Aware" shelf tags on many frequently purchased items, with the day of the price increase right on the tag. Of course, the "Aware" list won't include perishables like meat, eggs or fresh fruit and vegetables, where markets fluctuate daily; items controlled by law; or advertised specials. The Aware list can help you save.

2. A PRICE FREEZE ON A&P PRIVATE LABELS.

A&P voluntarily puts a freeze on over 1000 A&P Products. (Smaller stores may not regularly stock all items, but a list is available in all stores.) That means prices will go no higher at least until the end of the year. Many products that you use everyday...bread, cheese, pasta, coffee, non-fat dry milk, frozen potatoes, rice, tuna fish, fruit cocktail, frozen dinners and canned peas and corn. Advertised specials below the freeze prices will still be offered. We've put the freeze on our private labels because they represent the best value in our stores, and we'll hold down the prices, even if our ingredient costs go up.

3. OUR 13 POINT CONSUMER PROTECTION POLICY.

It's our continuing commitment to making you an Aware shopper by reminding you of what every A & P store owes you and by informing you of ways to get the most for your money. Look for the signs going up inside A & P stores spelling out all the protection A & P gives you: 1. Guaranteed Satisfaction 2. Exceptional Value 3. Low Price With Absolutely No Compromise in Quality 4. Rain Check-Product Availability 5. Product Freshness Through Open Dating 6. Consumer Information 7. Courteous Service 8. Cleanliness 9. Safe and Healthy Products 10. Shopping Convenience 11. The Butcher's Pledge 12. Variety of Choice and 13. People To People Communication.

MANHOLE INSTALLATION in construction of new sanitary sewer lines is completed in easement near Johnson Road and Edgewood Drive. Filling round the manhole area are Ray Tebbe (with shovel) and Russell Mueller. Operator of digging equipment, in background, is Larry Prather. C. D. Peters Construction Co. is the contractor for the $45,000 sewer project that will serve about 60 homes. (Press-Record Photo)

Plan for statue of woman legislator

An Illinois sculptress is one of several artists under consideration to construct a statue of the late Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill, the first woman elected to the Illinois legislature.

However, the final decision rests with members of a committee headed by Sen. Esther Saperstein, D-Chicago. Other members include Rep. "Giddy" Dyer, R-Hinsdale, Donna Schiller, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, and Evelyn Johnson of the Secretary of State's office.

"The committee has met twice and will meet again in January," said Norbert Johnson, supervisor of the Secretary of State's physical services and coordinator of the committee. "We have been solicited and have selected several sculptors and have asked several of them to submit photographs of their work."

The statue of the Downers Grove lady legislator will join others of late, distinguished Illinois politicians - all of whom are male - in the Capitol rotunda. At the present time, there are two empty niches on the second floor.

"We haven't decided as yet just where the statue will go, but it will be in one of the empty niches," he said.

A bill sponsored by Sen. Saperstein to appropriate $25,000 for the statue was sent to the rules committee in June, shortly after Sec. of State Michael J. Howlett suggested that the statue be erected in Sen. O'Neill's honor.

"More women than ever before are serving in government, and the number is increasing rapidly," Howlett said as he outlined the plan last summer. "But Mrs. O'Neill was the first in Illinois state politics."

Mrs. O'Neill was first elected to the General Assembly in 1922, two years after the U. S. Constitution was amended to allow women to vote. She served for 13 consecutive terms in the House.

In 1950, she was elected to the State Senate and was re-elected to two four-year terms in 1954 and 1958, for a total of 38 years in the General Assembly.

Other statues in the rotunda include bronze replicas of Abraham Lincoln, (1809-65), Stephen Douglas (1813-61), Dean of the Senate Richard A. Burr (1802-51), Speaker of the House David E. Shanahan (1862-1936) and Gov. and Lt. Gov. John Wood (1769-1880).

Services held for stillborn infant

Graveside services were held at 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 5, at St. John Cemetery, 2901 Namekiki Road, for William Henry Clark Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William (Debra) Clark Sr., 1223 Oriole St., Venice, the family said Tuesday. He was stillborn at 3:40 a.m. on Dec. 3 at St. Joseph Hospital, Alton.

Other survivors include maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hawthorn of Venice; great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lunford, Fredericktown, Mo.; great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Hawthorne of St. Genevieve, Mo.; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dagon, Granite City, and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ziegler of Venice.

Gamma counter aids blood diagnosis

An automatic gamma counter has been installed in the Section of Nuclear Medicine, Department of Internal Medicine, St. Louis University Hospital, which will make it possible to evaluate over 40 different types of radiation and measures it. The new equipment, which enables the Nuclear Medicine technologist to detect minute amounts of hormones, vitamins, antibiotics, specific drugs, tumor antigens and other substances in the blood. The counter will give the answer within several hours.

Dr. Robert M. Donati, professor of internal medicine and director of the Section of Nuclear Medicine at the St. Louis University School of Medicine, explains that first a blood sample is drawn from a patient. Certain extracts are placed in small vials mixed with radioactive material. The gamma counter does the rest. In commenting on the new Harmony among Illinois delegates at Democratic mid-term conclave

By SAM W. WOLF
Secretary-Treasurer of Madison County Democratic Committee and local delegate to the National Democratic conference

The Mid Term Conference of the National Democratic Committee was held during the weekend of Dec. 6-8, with all official business being transacted at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo.

The spacious auditorium was appropriately decorated for the occasion and the meeting contained all the pomp and ceremony of the 1968 and 1972 conventions held in Miami.

The first floor level contained the convention floor activity while the lower and upper levels contained many areas for TV and news media work areas, partitioned areas for caucuses of the various delegations, and other areas which were used by Presidential aspirants for the entertainment of those delegates who wished to participate.

The Illinois delegation was housed in the new and beautiful Sheraton Royal Hotel—open only two weeks—located near the new Truman Sports Complex on Highway 70, ten miles from downtown Kansas City, but only minutes away via the Interstate highway.

The hotel staff was accommodating to the extreme for the entire delegation, and seemed to go out of their way to make sure that the visiting politicians were satisfied in every way with the accommodations.

The hotel was suffering with the pangs of newness, but they made up for it with their desire to please.

All of the Illinois delegates were assigned to this hotel, while each of the other state delegations was assigned to other hotel accommodations in other areas of the city.

The caucus of the Illinois delegation was held at 1 p.m. at the ballroom of the Sheraton Royal Friday, Dec. 6, with Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago being elected chairman, as expected.

The nominating speech was made by Secretary of State Michael Howlett, with seconds by State Treasurer Alan Dixon and State Sen. Cecil Partee. The vote was unanimous.

Mrs. Carolyn Schisler of London Mills, Ill., was elected co-chairperson without opposition.

U.S. Senator Adlai Stevenson, arriving late, addressed the delegation briefly and confirmed that he would have voted for Mayor Daley as chairman, together with reminding the delegation as to its responsibilities at this convention.

Following the business of the caucus, Governor James Carter of Georgia was permitted to address the delegation, followed by Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington and Sen. Lloyd Benham of Texas.

The caucus was followed by a reception, also held at the hotel in an adjoining ballroom.

The Mid Term Conference officially opened at the Municipal Auditorium at 4 o'clock on the afternoon Dec. 6, with National Chairman Robert S. Strauss presiding and with the playing of the national anthem by the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra.

Presidents of the colors were by the Junior Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps of the Shawnee Mission Northwest High School.

The opening session consisted of welcoming remarks by Chairman Strauss, roll call by Secretary Dorothy Bush, an address by Speaker of the House Carl Albert and remarks by Senator Robert C. Byrd, majority whip of the United States Senate.

It was also during this session that an eight-point economic program was presented outlining the goals of the Democratic Party and, in substance, consisting of the following:

1. An expanded program of public service jobs for unemployed.

2. A comprehensive package of tax reforms.

3. Easing of credit by the Federal Reserve.

4. Strengthening of antitrust laws.

5. An equitable, properly administered across-the-board system of economic controls, including prices, wages, and rents.

6. A mandatory system of energy conservation.

7. A comprehensive system of national health insurance.

8. Consumer protection and no-fault insurance.

The second session of the conference convened at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 7, preceded by remarks by Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, who was warmly received by the delegates.

An address was also made by the Hon. Terry Sanford, charter commission chairman, and the Honorable Yvonne Brathwaite Burke.

The conference then got down to the business of adopting a charter for the national Democratic Party.

The charter, as prepared and presented by the charter commission, was bisected by the delegation bit by bit, including the preamble which was amended by the inclusion of the words "under God and"

The charter was comprised of 12 articles, each explanatory and detailed, outlining the composition, operation and governing of the "National Democratic Committee, the National Convention, and the National Executive Committee of the Democratic Party."

All articles came in for close scrutiny; however, Articles Six, Seven and Ten of the proposed charter, as expected, received the most attention and debate.

Article Six as proposed provided that "The Democratic Party may hold a National Party Conference between national conventions. . . ."

However, efforts were made to change this to "shall" instead of "may."

This effort failed, with indications that the subject would be pursued at the national convention in 1976.

Article Seven also provided that "There may be a Council of the Democratic Party appointed by the Democratic National Committee. . . ."

This article was amended by requiring, "There shall be a Judicial Council. . . ."

Article Ten as previously forecast was the real meat of the charter and actually of the conference, in that it dealt with the selection of future delegations under an approved system of affirmative action programs.

Such programs are designed to insure the participation of all Democrats, with particular concern for minority groups, women and youth.

Section 6 of this article originally proposed by the charter commission was finally amended, after caucuses by various groups which resulted in certain language being stricken from the original article, more particularly as follows:

"but composition alone shall not constitute prima facie evidence of discrimination, nor shall it shift the burden of proof to the challenged party."

This still leaves Section 6 of the article devoid of any quota requirements. This revision did not occasion much certain labor groups happy, as was evidenced by the remarks of AFL-CIO Representative Jack Henning of California.

The revision was, however, well received by an overwhelming majority of the conference delegation, including Mayor Daley of Chicago and the Illinois delegation.

Success of the Mid-Term

Conference was assured by passage of this Section, and relief could be seen on the faces of delegates everywhere who had anticipated much more of a floor fight on this issue.

Saturday night a session adjourned at approximately 8 o'clock and the conference was reconvened at 10 a.m. Sunday for presentation of reports from various issue seminars of the Democratic Advisory Council of Elected Officials.

This was followed by closing remarks from Chairman Strauss.

He was obviously pleased with the accomplishments of the conference and the avoidance of any major confrontation or split with particular groups.

Those who attended from the local area were Sam Wolf of Granite City, Buddy Davis of Wood River and Winnie Lippman of Arlington Heights, Granite City, all of Madison County's 23rd District. Representative Leland Kennedy of Alton attended as a delegate from the 20th District.

Two painting guns worth $100 each were stolen from a building at 2200 East 25th St., owned by Norman Past, 2224 E. 25th St., it was reported at 9 a.m. Tuesday. Glass in the front door was broken to gain entry.

HOUSE RANSACKED

The front door glass was broken to gain entry to the home of Steve Edwards, 2119 rear Delmar Ave., it was reported at 6:45 p.m. Monday. The house was ransacked. It was not known if anything was stolen.

Carl Conary dies at 84

Carl E. Conary, 84, of 2521 Edison Ave., a retired machinist, died at 11:50 p.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He had been ill since February and hospitalized for one day.

A native of Union Town, Ky., he resided in Granite City 50 years.

Mr. Conary had worked for 45 years at American Steel Foundries and retired in 1929. He was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Nettie Conary; one son, Arthur D. Conary of St. Louis and grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Beer stolen

Five cases of beer were stolen from an unlocked cooler at Tempel's Restaurant, 1335 Johnson Road, it was reported during the weekend.

One case was found in the parking lot. A policeman on patrol reported chasing two juvenile boys who were carrying a case of beer near the restaurant, but the boys escaped.

'Hire now' state drive

"To help combat growing unemployment and the effects of recession, our state employment service is starting a new program to find more jobs for men and women who are out of work," Gov. Daniel Walker reports.

The pilot "Hire Now" program will include a 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week phone bank for Chicago area employers to list job openings.

"Serious unemployment hurts everyone. It hurts businessmen as well as workers. It cuts down on purchasing power; people can't buy if they aren't earning the money," Walker commented.

"With Hire Now we are doing something about the unemployment problem. We are saying to businessmen: here is your opportunity to hire skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled workers—people who have been laid off. They have held jobs, and demonstrated their willingness to work. And they have the ability to work."

"There may be a temptation to look at the economic barometers and miss this opportunity."

"But businessmen who hire now, employers who list job openings as fast as they occur, will have a unique selection of good workers."

"This is not the time to retrench, even though it may look that way."

Promoted

James E. Mabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Mabe, 3155 Breckenridge Lane, has been promoted to Army private first class while serving as a mechanic in the 586th Maintenance Company in Kornwestheim, Germany.

"Unemployment damages the economy as much as it eats away at working people's lives," the governor continued. "We want to do everything we can to help find jobs for those men and women who can work, who want to work."

"Besides, the 24-hour-a-day phone bank for employers, we are taking other steps to make it easier for employers to list job openings. Steps such as a simple mail-in form for job orders."

"Once the program is under way in the Chicago area, we will expand it throughout the state."

"Our state employment service has a growing pool of job applicants. We have people waiting to start work as soon as a job opening comes in.

"The next step is up to our business and industrial community."

"If we work together in the Hire Now program, we can cut down the suffering that accompanies unemployment."

Reference librarian joins GC staff today

Miss Jeanette L. Kampen of O'Fallon, Ill., joined the Granite City Public Library staff today as a reference librarian, it was announced by the Rev. Roy Baugh, president of the Library Board.

Miss Kampen has completed requirements for a Master of Arts Degree in Library Science which will be conferred at the December commencement of the University of Missouri, Columbia.

She received her Bachelor of Arts in English from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Miss Kampen has been working as assistant editor, Christian Board of Publication, St. Louis, and has worked in the reference and outreach programs at the Daniel Boone Regional Library in Columbia.

Her duties will involve collection development and collection interpretation.

Under collection development she will analyze needs and interest to determine future directions of reference and collection collection, evaluate surveys of patron needs and interest and coordinate selection of materials with needs and resources of the community.

In collection interpretation she will provide instruction in use of bibliographic tools; catalogs, directories, indexes, files and standard reference works. She also will provide reference assistance to persons, by telephone or by mail, locate answers to informational questions and prepare special indexes and reference reports.

Registration scheduled for Madison BAC classes

Registration for both general studies courses and college credit courses at the Madison Extension Center of the Belleville Area College (BAC) will be held Monday through Thursday.

Registration will be at the Madison High School, Sixth and Parish streets, Madison, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. and from 6 p.m. until 10 p.m. the first four days of next week, according to Charles Steptoe, BAC coordinator.

Fees for general studies courses are payable at the time of registration and range between $10 and $26 per course. Credit course fees will be billed to the individual by the college at a later date.

Students of credit courses being offered will attend classes from 7 p.m. to 9:45 p.m. on the nights indicated, with three hours credit being given for introduction to Business, Rhetoric and Composition I, and General Psychology, all meeting on Monday nights. Intermediate Algebra and Introductory Sociology will meet on Tuesdays and Fundamentals of Public Speaking and Accounting I on Wednesday evenings.

Thirty-six subjects are offered in the general studies area. The subjects range from Preparing Income Tax forms to Beginning Cake and Food Decoration.

1975 KENWOOD RECEIVER SALE

1/3 OFF 5 GREAT NEW STEREO RECEIVERS

CMC has just made a special purchase to offer you the best buys of the year on new 1975 Kenwood stereo receivers. Buy just the receiver and save a bundle or build a whole new system BELOW last year prices!

KENWOOD KR-2400

Kenwood consistently offers more "power-for-the-money" in their lower-priced models. Here's a full 15 watts RMS x 2 (40-20,000 Hz) at less than 1% distortion. Go ahead, crank it up to full power... a special circuit breaker protects it AND your speakers against any overload.

Reg. $219.95 sale $146
1/3 OFF SAVE $73.95

KENWOOD KR-3400

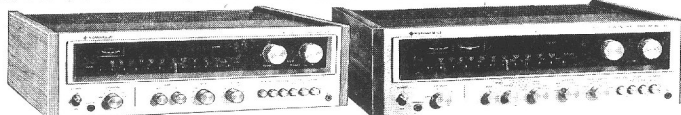

Here's plenty of power to drive almost any speaker on the market... with 19 watts RMS x 2 (20-20,000 Hz) at distortion levels less than 0.8%. And its control panel features a high frequency filter and FM muting switch to silence inter-station noise.

Reg. $259.95 sale $173

KENWOOD KR-4400

Kenwood really knows how to keep the distortion out of your music... even in a mid-priced receiver. Distortion levels stay under 0.5% with 25 watts RMS x 2 (20-20,000 Hz) output! Dual tape monitors let you listen to either the source or recorded results while dubbing tape-to-tape. You can also add 2 sets of speakers and up to 2 turntables.

Reg. $299.95 sale $200
1/3 OFF SAVE $99.95

KENWOOD KR-5400

The least expensive way we know to get this much versatility... 3 pairs of speakers, 2 turntables and 2 tape decks (you can monitor either one while tape-to-tape dubbing). Also features both high and low filters and more power than most people ever need... 35 watts RMS x 2 (20-20,000 Hz) at distortion levels less than 0.5%.

Reg. $379.95 sale $253
1/3 OFF SAVE $126.95

KENWOOD KR-6400

The 6400 delivers a whopping 45 watts RMS x 2 (20-20,000 Hz) at less than 0.3% distortion... a level usually only found in much more expensive receivers! Accurate tuning is a snap with dual meters. And the 6400 is almost like having two stereo systems in one since it permits tape-to-tape dubbing while you listen to ANY program source.

Reg. $449.95 sale $300
1/3 OFF SAVE $149.95

And... you can save up to $127 on CMC's "Best Buy" component systems specially priced at $119, $219, $319, and $399

Bethel 43 installs new officers

Miss Patricia A. Brokaw was installed as honored queen of Bethel 43, International Order of Job's Daughters, at a public ceremony taking place at the Masonic Temple.

Other elected officers participating in the evening program were Leslie Houser, senior princess; Lisa Smith, junior princess; Becky Burke, guide and Kim Rapp, marshal. Appointed officers who will serve for a six-month term are: Betsy Slate, chaplain; Jacqui Elfrid, treasurer; Charla Rainwater, musician; Mary Jane Johnston, recorder; Cindy McDaniel, librarian; Robin McBoe, Gwen Simpson, Nancy Nieciecki, Donna Chinar, Michelle Root, messengers; Marianne Garino, senior custodian; Sheryl Kay Williams, junior custodian; Pam Cunningham, inner guard and Cindi Ferguson, outer guard.

Choir members include Karen Burke, Lori Cunningham, Cheryl Cavar, Jan Easley, Kay Gantt, Beverly Lansaw, Lori McDaniel.

Rhonda Mikulesa, Sandy Miller, Carolyn Ozanich, Robin Robertson, Patty Skinner and Ed Wainsley. The flag bearer will be Barbara Miller.

Miss Kathleen Lane, the retiring queen, was the installing officer. Misses Shirley Brokaw, Kristie Christich, Becky Graham, Joy Pope, Mrs. Charlotte Rapp, Mrs. Miriam Ozanich and Mrs. Bella Krober, all past queens, and Miss Jeri Johnson were the installing officers at individual stations.

Mrs. Lois Billrey was the installing soloist and Miss Janet Moss gave the "Ode to the Flag."

Dave Epping, master counselor of the James Stewart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, with his corps of officers gave the nine o'clock interpolation. Presentation of the past queen's jewel was made by Miss Christich. Miss Janice Hamilton presided at the guest book and Miss Terri Knucha and Miss Pat Mayfield distributed the programs.

Guests of honor were Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Knucha. Escorted and introduced were Mrs. Rebecca Slate, guardian and Dr. Amos Rode, associate guardian of Bethel 43; Mrs. Betty Schmidt, guardian, Hugo Harbers, associate guardian, Lisa Sabalo, senior princess and Kathy Hertel, junior princess, all of Bethel 72, Edwardsville.

Mrs. Aline Graham, president of the Mother's Club, presented a gavel to Miss Brokaw and a special mascot was given to the new queen by her sister, Miss Shirley Brokaw, a past queen of Bethel 43.

The benediction was given by Miss Lane. A reception and dance followed with music by "The Four Seasons." Refreshments were served by the Mothers Club, with Mrs. Ruth Houser as chairman.

Nu Zeta initiates members

The Nu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Mrs. Linda McKeahan, 2143 Waterman Ave., and conducted a pledge ritual ceremony for new members, Mrs. Carolyn Lee and Mrs. Grace McLaughlin.

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Bobbie Lewis, president, who reviewed plans for an area spring convention of sorority chapters to be held in Granite City. Mrs. Cathy Farnback, service chairman, said a Thanksgiving food basket had been delivered and plans have been made to prepare one for Christmas delivery.

The president reported the Christmas "polish" dinner and gift exchange will be held in the home of Mrs. Sharri Smith on Tuesday.

A dessert course was served to these named and to Miss Emily Farnback, Miss Phyllis Pellegrino, Mrs. Martha Deleveski, Mrs. Judy Haven and Mrs. Alice Naeve.

Bull-Edwards betrothal told

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Edwards, 2616 Center St., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beverly Dianne Edwards, to Thomas David Bull, a son of Mrs. Harriet Bull, 2414 E. 24th St., and the late John Robert Bull.

The bride-elect, a senior at Granite City High School South, will graduate in June. She is an art major. Miss Edwards also attends cosmetology school.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Granite City High School, currently is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where he is majoring in music education. He will graduate in June 1976.

Plans are being completed by the engaged couple for a Christmas wedding in 1975.

New Hope plans party Dec. 20

Plans for a Christmas party on Friday, Dec. 20, were announced during the weekend at a meeting of New Hope Chapter 432, Order of Eastern Star, at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Aline George and Max Merz Sr., worthy matron and patron, respectively, presided. Escorted and introduced were two grand lecturers, Mrs. Dorothy Edwards and Carol Hildebrand, and 10 members of grand chapter committees.

At the Dec. 20 party, Mrs. Thelma Prewett, junior past matron, and Howard Prewett, junior past patron, will be honored. Mrs. George announced a $1 gift exchange also is planned.

After the rituals and business session refreshments were served in the dining room by Mrs. Thelma Jansen and Mrs. Helen Merz.

Mrs. Galiardi is Pi Eta hostess

Members of Pi Eta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, attended a Christmas dinner party Monday evening at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville.

The group later returned to the home of Mrs. Jana Galiardi, 407 Kathy Drive, and viewed the hostess' worldwide collection of holiday symbols which decorated the dwelling.

Gifts were exchanged by secret pals and games were played. Each member read a special Christmas custom as part of the program.

Those attending were Donna Yehling, Marianna Davis, Judy Onesty, Beverly Bennett, Mary Ruth Snelson, Jan Nowland and Wanita Graham.

Illinois hopes of converting coal spotlight need for abundant water

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Converting coal to clean synthetic fuels will take lots of water.

Is there enough?

This question in relation to Project Independence was raised at a meeting of the Geological Society of America. It has implications for Illinois and the state's hopes of plants to liquefy its high-sulfur coal.

Project Independence proposes to triple coal consumption. The country has the coal, but water where needed may be a major obstacle.

George H. Davis, a hydrologist with the U. S. Geological Survey, pointed out the stumbling block at the Society's meeting in Miami in a paper co-authored with Leonard A. Wood: "Water demands for expanding energy development."

Davis said local sources can provide the modest increase in water needed for the actual mining of coal.

"The amount of water needed to convert the coal to

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Dec. 12, 1974 Page 38

electrical energy and other products is enormous, however, and a lack of adequate water may well dictate the feasibility, location and design of coal conversion facilities," he said.

Davis expects the need for water to become "particularly acute" as efforts are made to tap the largely unexploited Western coal reserves.

"In fact," he says, "a lack of water is already proving a major consideration at many of the plants being designed or constructed for producing synthetic gas and hydrocarbons from coal in the Rocky Mountains and great Plains."

Davis pointed out that the "new coal-based energy industries such as coal gasification and liquefaction will need large volumes of water in addition to the demands already being made by the water-cooling of coal-fired thermal-electric generation plants."

Coal-fired electric power plants, moreover, are projected to require even more cooling water, up from 390 billion gallons (1.2 million acre-feet) in 1970 to 600 billion gallons (1.9 million acre-feet) in 1985.

Davis said a possible alternative to drawing more cooling water from water-short areas is to substitute some air cooling for water cooling in electric plants.

"Another alternative is to transport the coal to areas with adequate water supplies before generating electricity," he added.

"Whatever solutions are reached, the availability of water has become a major stumbling block in solving our nation's energy shortage."

Davis suggests that water needs for coal gasification plants can be forecast with a fair degree of accuracy, but such estimates for coal liquefaction plants, the route Illinois hopes to pursue, are harder to come by.

"Estimation of water consumption in producing oil from coal is tenuous at best because no commercial-scale operations exist in the United States, and none of several processes has been shown to be competitive with alternate fuels," he explained.

The National Petroleum Council has adopted a figure of about 45,000 gallons of water consumed per year for each barrel per day of oil produced at coal liquefaction facilities.

"This translates into about 6.5 billion gallons of water consumed each year for 100,000 barrels of oil produced per day," Davis concluded.

Chlorinate all drinking water in state

By JOAN MURARO
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Regulations requiring that drinking water supplies throughout Illinois must be chlorinated have been adopted by the Illinois Pollution Control Board.

First proposed a year ago, the regulations will affect 670 water supplies in the state, where $30 public water supply sources out of a total of 1,600 are already using chlorination.

Until the new rules were adopted, only surface water supplies—or other sources which have a history of possible contamination—were required to routinely chlorinate the water.

The regulations were adopted only after a long series of public hearings held around the state.

The regulations adopted also set permissible limits for amounts of various natural or man-made substances in public water supplies.

Covered are such diverse items as arsenic, barium, cadmium, copper, cyanide, fluoride, iron, lead, manganese, mercury, silver and zinc as well as a lengthy list of insecticides and herbicides.

The regulations become effective immediately.

Roger Selburg, manager of the permit section in the Division of Public Water Supplies for the state Environmental Protection Agency, said that technology and equipment necessary for adding chlorine to water supplies are already available in plants now distributing water, so immediate compliance should pose no problem.

Cost, which will vary with the amount of water being pumped, will not be excessive, he said.

Operators must first apply to the permit section for a permit to install any equipment necessary.

Enforcement of the provision will be with the surveillance section in the public water supplies division of the EPA. Selburg said the division's policy will undoubtedly be the same as the rest of EPA endorsement measures—all attempts will be made to secure voluntary compliance with the regulations before any action is taken before the Illinois Pollution Control Board, which has the right to fine violators of its regulations.

Reassigned

Airman Tab D. McDonough, son of John W. McDonough, 2049 State St., has been assigned to Sheppard AFB, Tex., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Sheppard for specialized training in the transportation field.

Airman McDonough attended East Aurora High School. His mother, Mrs. Mariette L. Shaffer, resides in Aurora, Ill.

Toll-free call for tax advice

The Internal Revenue Service reported today that it will again provide toll-free telephone help to Central and Southern Illinois taxpayers.

Ira S. Loeb, IRS district director, said, "Tax help from the Internal Revenue Service is still just a toll-free telephone call away for central and southern Illinois taxpayers."

Springfield taxpayers contact the IRS, as they did last year, for help with their tax returns by calling 789-4220. Elsewhere in the state, taxpayers can call 800-252-2321 toll-free.

"The toll-free numbers are also listed in the tax instructions that accompany this year's forms," said Loeb.

"Taxpayers should be sure to check their instruction booklets for the correct number to call."

"If a taxpayer has a question while filling out his return, we encourage him to call for assistance from one of our taxpayers service representatives," he continued.

The toll-free telephone service is available on a year-round basis.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME

Firemen were called this week to extinguish a blaze in a chimney at the home of E. Laswell, 2609 Cayuga St. An overheated fireplace created by a clogged flue was reported as the cause. Thirty minutes were required to control the fire. No estimate of damage was given.

Farm land lease agreements vary

By RON CORNWELL Agricultural Extension Adviser

When land is rented, who should pay for the expenses involved? This depends on the lease agreement worked out between tenant and landlord.

Most leases in this area are oral leases using the one-third, two-third arrangement.

At a recent farm leasing program, a survey was taken of the persons in attendance to see how they shared cost between landlord and tenant.

Eighty-two per cent present indicated they were on a one-third, two-third lease arrangement; 9 per cent were on a two-fifths, three-fifths lease arrangement; 4 1/2 per cent were on a 1/2 - 1/2 arrangement, and 4 1/2 per cent were on a cash lease.

Thirteen per cent of the landlords indicated they shared one-third of the legume and grass seed cost while none of the landlords shared in the grain crop seed cost.

On the question of fertilizer cost, 50 per cent of the landlords indicated they shared the fertilizer cost based on the percentage of the crop they received. Almost all landlords indicated they paid for all the limestone.

On the question of herbicide cost, about 20 per cent of the landlords indicated they shared in that cost while the rest paid none of the herbicide cost.

The survey indicated the tenant paid the harvesting cost.

Fall is the time for action against weeds in alfalfa. The major weed problem in alfalfa are usually winter annuals or perennials.

For the best control, stop them when they start growing in the fall or early spring.

Benefits of controlling weeds in alfalfa may not be as obvious as the results in corn and soybeans. However, removing weeds usually increases the quality of hay and can also reduce the weed problems in following crops.

Here are some suggestions for weed control in alfalfa:

Principle can be applied to alfalfa alone if the stand has been established for at least one year. It will control most annual grasses and broadleaf weeds, including downy brome and chickweed. Principle should be applied after the final cutting but before the ground is frozen.

The rates are 1 to 1 1/2 pounds per acre, depending on soil type. Do not apply Principle on snow or sand or loamy sand soils. Do not graze for 30 days after application.

Kerb will control certain grasses and annual broadleaf weeds, but will not control perennial broadleaf weeds. It should be applied when the soil temperature is below 60 degrees F. and before the soil is frozen.

Airman promoted

McClellan AFB, Calif., has announced the promotion of Steven H. Foster to sergeant in the U. S. Air Force.

Sergeant Foster, son of H. E. Foster, 2605 Iowa St., is a wire and antenna maintenance specialist with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service.

The sergeant is a 1971 graduate of Granite City High School.

Kerb can be applied to established stands, as well as to newly seeded alfalfa, provided it has reached the trifoliate leaf stage. Most annual grasses and chickweed can be controlled with 1.5 pounds per acre of Kerb 50W. For perennial grasses, use 2 to 3 pounds per acre. Do not graze for 60 days after application.

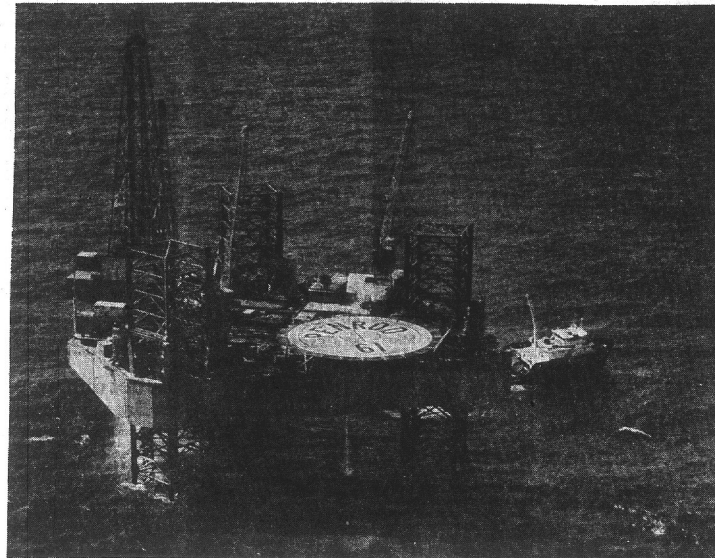

Furloc chloro IPC can be applied to late-summer seeded or established alfalfa in the fall or early spring. It is most effective on chickweed. If Furloc is applied in the fall after the last cutting, use 1 to 2 quarts per acre.

For early spring application, use 2 to 3 quarts per acre. The higher rates are needed on heavier soils. Chloro IPC may injure grass on mixed grass-alfalfa stands.

Read the label carefully before using any herbicide. The label gives the precautions, the latest information and the exact rate for your situation.

Natural gas from beneath Gulf of Mexico aiding Illinois fuel supply

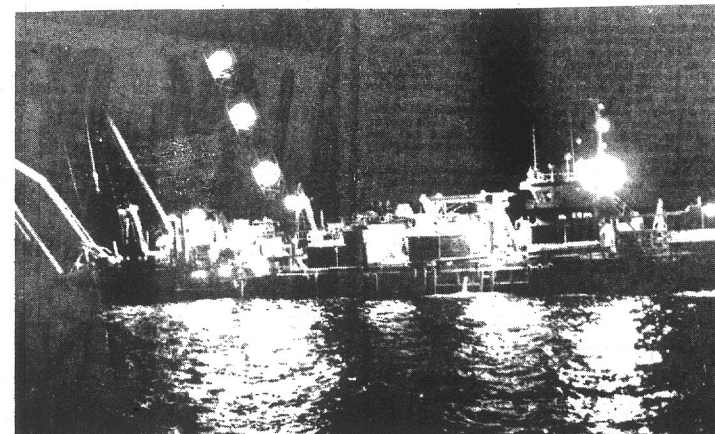

SEARCH FOR MORE GAS has intensified during the 1970s in the Gulf of Mexico, and the drilling platform in this aerial photo is among those that have been utilized to obtain new natural gas supplies off the shore of Texas and Louisiana. Projects have included the Stingray pipeline, which made possible last week's announcement that the Federal Power Commission has authorized additional gas for Illinois, including Illinois Power Co.

DRILLING RIG for natural gas is an immense metal structure which is built on land and then submerged in the Gulf of Mexico as much as 125 miles offshore, manned by crews who reach the rig by boats and helicopters. Left to right are William F. Winter, Press-Record editor, and Edward Applegate, former Granite Cityan who is one of the Illinois Power Co. executives based at the corporate headquarters in Decatur. Pictured at a rig construction site in Texas, they are wearing Stingray pipeline project uniforms.

NATURAL GAS BARGE is shown in operation in this night scene from a nearby boat. Such barges are utilized 24 hours a day to lay and then bury marine pipeline systems. After pipe sections are welded to form a continuous line and then placed on the Gulf of Mexico floor, trenching is done directly under it by high-pressure water jets. Natural action of the Gulf's water provides backfill.

'Acceptance' education urged

Schools need to teach "acceptance education" to better prepare students for intergroup relations, according to the participants in the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign's Seminar at Edwardsville (USE) during the weekend.

Robert O. Anderson and Joseph A. Munshaw, both assistant professors of speech communication at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and Deane Hillen of Edwardsville, a USE presidential scholar, described "acceptance education" as the preparation necessary for people to make intelligent decisions about "initiating, maintaining, nurturing and terminating relationships with others."

"With this emphasis, teachers learn to accept students as real people, not as stereotypes in a shared journey, rather than embryonic scholars," the speakers said in a prepared statement distributed to the audience.

"Students learn that their education is what they create rather than something they receive; it is a laboratory for welcoming and coping with personal, interpersonal and intergroup tensions."

The seminar scholars see America's future as "increasingly a multilogue of subcultural voices competing for recognition and striving toward a uniqueness of identity."

"This is not divisive but beneficial—if our schools implement a philosophy of acceptance education based on principles of interpersonal communication," the speakers said.

Quoting the book, Speech and Man, by Brown and Van Peeper, the seminar leaders said:

"Coexistence is the central theme of the latter half of the 20th century, and survival of the race depends upon people learning how to accommodate their language to those who find it difficult to understand them."

"The discovery of sane language—translations that satisfy the speaker's needs and make good sense to the listener—is still a lagging art."

The seminar participants defined "monologue" as "a way of relating when one person stands apart from his fellows."

They said "dialogue" involves "deep concern for the other person—really testing, open interactive speech and empathic listening."

"According to Anderson, Multilogue is an extension of the philosophy of dialogue. It is a social perspective facilitating separateness as a virtue, involving the seeking of conflict and connection."

Miss Hillen said "active listening" is a skill for dealing with dialogue and multilogue. She defined the skill as "listening for content and feeling and responding with both."

She said a basic attitude required is "respect for the potential worth of the individual."

"Active listening is a process of thinking with someone instead of for him," Miss Hillen added. "It helps the teacher and student become equals, become people."

The seminar leaders acknowledged there is a contemporary "transition in emphasis from monologue to dialogue in educational and social relationships," but they said this change represents "only a partial response to the emergency culture's dilemmas of personal identity."

Anderson said, "Identity-seeking in multilogue is dangerous if we see 'cultural integrity' as an attempt to keep disparate parts of a culture unified and whole in purpose and perspective."

"Identity-seeking in multilogue is valuable if we see 'cultural integrity' as a value-directed renunciation of shallow relationships, a society's attempt to be honest with itself."

Anderson used a term he called "the new ethnicity."

He said, "the major social phenomenon of the past two decades has been the realization that the 'melting pot' need not melt anything. Instead, the separateness of subcultural voices should be valued and maintained—even those which seem divisive."

In a discussion of interpersonal relationships, Munshaw said acceptance education prepares the person for multilogue; students learn the answers to questions like: "Who do we approach? Who do we avoid? Who can we afford to listen to? Who can we take seriously? How do we present ourselves (feelings and ideas) to each other?"

The USE sessions are being held in the Lovejoy Library auditorium on the SIUE campus. They are free of charge and open to the public.

The general USE topic for the year is "Ethnic Identity and Cultural Integrity."

The next session, scheduled for December 10, will feature representative of the School of Social Sciences.

The application deadline is Feb. 7, 1975. Application materials will be available in the December at the Office of Research and Projects, Room 2202, SIUE General Office Building.

Yule season buying tips for consumers in state

By WILLIAM J. SCOTT
Illinois Attorney General

The holiday season is a time when our hearts become full of joy—and our bank accounts become depleted of money.

Many of us will feel the strain of inflation as we set out on our holiday gift buying. I'd like to offer some hints as well as some words of caution.

If you are carrying money and/or credit cards, beware of the pickpocket and the purse snatcher. If you are carrying money and/or credit cards, beware of the pickpocket and the purse snatcher.

Men: keep your wallet in an inside jacket pocket, with your overcoat buttoned overtop. Women: keep your wallet in an inside, zipped compartment of your purse, and carry a zipper with a strong clasp or zipper closure.

Also, it may be wise to carry credit cards in a separate case or compartment. Don't let your purse dangle in your hand. Hold it in front of you close to your chest.

And don't slip it into a shopping bag and then put the shopping bag down while you look at merchandise. Your purse—or your whole shopping bag—can disappear with a turn of your head.

WHERE NOT TO SHOP
At this time of year, many fly-by-night promoters open storefront establishments especially to lure a holiday crowd. Beware of such establishments.

Find out about the quality of their merchandise as well as their return policy, refund policy and guarantees. Often a consumer will purchase an item from a storefront business, only to return for an adjustment after the holidays and find the storefront closed and the salesmen and merchandise "down-by-night."

It's wiser to shop in respectable, established stores with clearly stated exchange, refund and guarantee policies.

The same advice holds true in buying from a street-corner peddler or a peddler's merchandise from the back of an auto, truck or pushcart.

MAIL ORDERS
Many people find mail order shopping more comfortable than fighting holiday crowds. But use caution.

Again, the best advice is to use only catalogs offered by established merchants.

If you receive an unsolicited catalog in the mail and see a item you'd like, be sure it doesn't sound "too good to be true." It probably is.

Also, check return policy and guarantees as well as—when appropriate—size, weight, ingredients, colors available, and whether or not the item pictured actually is what you're buying.

Check for shipping and handling charges and tax, if any, and be sure to include those costs in your payment. Otherwise, delays could result.

Remember to include your name and address. Also, don't mail cash. Send check, money order or credit card number (if accepted).

Finally, keep a copy of your order, including the name and address of the company. You may be surprised to learn how many people send off for items and, when a problem arises, can't remember from whom they've ordered.

If you do have a mail order problem, a good place to turn—as well as the Attorney General's Consumer Fraud and Protection Division—is the Direct Mail Marketing Association, 6 East 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

It's difficult to save money at a holiday time, but it's even worse to lose money to pickpockets or in unwise purchases. I hope the above advice is helpful.

National science faculty program

The National Science Foundation (NSF) has announced a faculty fellowship program which focuses attention on the use of science to help solve pressing problems relating to society, according to John Rodman, coordinator of the Office of Research and Projects at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The program is for teachers of science, mathematics and engineering at universities, colleges, and junior and community colleges. Awards will be made to faculty members who have had five or more years of full-time teaching experience.

Rodman said NSF plans to award approximately 80 fellowships in science in April, 1975. He said the program "designed to help teachers broaden their perspective in the application of science to societal problems."

The application deadline is Feb. 7, 1975. Application materials will be available in the December at the Office of Research and Projects, Room 2202, SIUE General Office Building.

Walker calls for service cutbacks, no tax increase

Gov. Dan Walker has scheduled a cabinet meeting for Tuesday, Dec. 17, to discuss new economies in state operations necessitated by the recent veto-override session of the General Assembly.

Legislative actions during that session will have an impact of $134 million in fiscal 1975, $182 million in fiscal 1976 and comparable amounts in future years, it is contended.

Gov. Walker ordered agency heads to prepare by tomorrow a list of steps to reduce spending by their agencies, along with the cost savings to be realized by each step. The governor told the agency heads their "personal participation in developing this program is essential."

He also ordered agency heads to take a new look at their 1976 budget recommendations, in light of the veto overrides.

The directive to agency heads followed a series of meetings Walker held over the weekend to analyze in detail the impact of the legislative session.

Besides the agency cost-saving steps and budget review, Gov. Walker also directed agency heads to examine carefully personnel and equipment needs with a view toward cutbacks.

And he asked that agency heads be prepared to discuss government-wide actions in personnel, travel and other areas "that would help the state to live within the resources available."

Gov. Walker said, "The General Assembly has just voted measures that would cost Illinois taxpayers large sums. While I have condemned this legislative action as irresponsible, we must also recognize that it is also mostly irrevocable."

"As a result we are now confronted with a need for tough action to avoid either large-scale reductions in services or a tax increase."

"Increasing state taxes is simply an unacceptable alternative. We cannot and should not ask taxpayers—burdened already with the twin problems of recession and inflation—to take on still more burdens in the form of higher taxes."

Festive party for Venice club

The Venice Women's Club held its annual Christmas party this week at Charlie's Restaurant. Mesdames Rhea Buente, Vivian McKinney, Bertha Pace and Madama Groshong planned the event.

Festive decorations were used on the tables. Favors of green candles in holly candle holders completed the table appointments.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Anne Slate and Mrs. Sue Miller, who presented a program appropriate to the Yuletide season concerning their tour of the Holy Land earlier this year.

Movies, hand carved articles and jewelry brought from the Middle East were displayed and used to illustrate their topic, "Christ's Walk in Jerusalem."

Gifts were distributed to the members and guests. The group also agreed to send a poinsettia plant to Mrs. Mary Miller, who presently is a patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

School of Business graduates of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold their annual Christmas dinner party Friday, Dec. 13, at 6:30 p.m. at Riedel's Restaurant, Route 159, Edwardsville.

Following a social hour and buffet dinner, George Johnson, president of George Johnson Advertising Agency, will speak.

He also will show 1974 national prize-winning television commercials. William F. Graebe Jr. of Collinsville is president of the SIUE Business Constituent Society.

Guests attending were Mesdames Catherine Van Horn, Belleville; Mrs. Geneva Francis, Mrs. Bea Chippers and Mrs. Hilda Freeling, all of St. Louis County; Mrs. Mary Kathryn Groshong, Mrs. Jessie Lou Tackaberry, Mrs. Jane Ann Vanseller and Miss Susan Seilheimer, all of Granite City. Daley will continue to vie with Walker for state power

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

It was probably the biggest guessing game in the history of Illinois politics. Would Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley run again?

He ended the speculation this year by announcing his candidacy for a sixth term.

With the possible exception of Chicago's City Hall itself, the game was played with no greater intensity than beneath the Statehouse dome. For Daley is not only the mayor of the nation's third largest city, but he also holds a unique place in Illinois politics and state government.

To many, Illinois politics without Daley seems almost inconceivable. But the possibility that both Democrats and Republicans eventually must face him is a long-standing reputation of keeping his political plans in the views of his political allies.

Democratic figures in recent days.

Generally it has been felt throughout most of this year that the mayor would seek a sixth successive term. But some doubt had begun to develop as his silence continued through the national Democratic mini-convention.

The decision had to be made now because the last week in December is the deadline for filing mayoralty petitions.

Although several Daley political allies have recently been convicted on a variety of charges, this is not believed to have been a major factor concerning the 1976 plans. His health was the key element.

Mayor Daley suffered a stroke on May 6 and later underwent major corrective surgery. He spent most of the summer recuperating at his retreat home in Michigan.

His family said the decision to run or not run was solely his. But being a strong family man, Daley was expected to act in accordance with their feelings, which he would have no trouble discerning. Some felt they would wish to spare him the rigors of a sixth four-year term, but that guess proved wrong.

Whenever it does occur, the departure of Daley as mayor could have immediate and far-reaching effects on Illinois politics. Without the direct power as mayor, few at the Statehouse believe he could still wield the enormous influence on statewide politics and government that he has for 20 years.

There is no successor of the Daley stature available. The Cook County Democratic organization would almost certainly begin to slowly erode with Daley's departure from City Hall.

Another immediate development would be an automatic boost in the power and prominence of Gov. Dan Walker. There would be some inevitable feuding and fighting, but it is difficult to see how Walker could be blocked from seizing practical as well as titular leadership of the party.

With Daley's long-time mayor, Walker's chances of defeating any party rival in the 1976 primary would have been immensely strengthened. Becoming the acknowledged leader of the party would be important and strategic in state such as Illinois, and Walker would be aided in promoting his ambitions for national office.

The Illinois legislature also would be different without the Daley power and influence. There would be fewer deals of the kind that have produced a mass of legislation over the years, some of it good and some bad.

But Daley has now moved to maintain his dominance, and intense friction between the mayor and governor has returned from the back burner to the front burner.

Despite firm Democratic control of both the House and Senate, there is likely to be splintering of the legislative process.

Among the Democrats there could be three or more factions competing for power in 1976, including Daley, Walker and Downstate coalitions.

Space heaters can be a source of cozy warmth on cold days. They can also be dangerous.

Each year, over 5,000 people receive hospital emergency room treatment for injuries associated with oil, gas, kerosene, and electric space heaters and with wood and coal burning heating stoves.

In a new fact sheet the Consumer Product Safety Commission gives safety pointers on space heaters and heating stoves.

A free copy of Safe Use of Space-Heaters may be obtained from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

The fact sheet explains typical accident patterns which include: contact with the flame, explosion of accumulated gas when lighting the burner, carbon monoxide poisoning, electrical shock (often because the user is wet when he touches the controls), and use of flammable liquids to "stoke" the fire.

Tip: are included on selection, use and maintenance of space heaters:

Buy a heater that is properly vented. Improperly vented, cracked or improperly adjusted heaters may produce deadly quantities of carbon monoxide.

Buy a heater with an adequate guard around the flames or heating coil to keep children, pets and clothing away from the heat source.

If you buy an electric space heater, be sure that it has an automatic switch on the bottom which cuts off electric power if the heater tips over.

Be sure to keep at least three feet safety clearance on all sides of the space heaters.

Always use a screen around a stove or space heater that has open flames.

Never place an electric heater near a bath tub, shower, or sink. Avoid use of a portable electric heater anywhere in a bathroom.

Never touch an electric heater if you are wet.

Also included is the warning that if your clothing does catch fire, don't run. Drop down immediately and roll to smother the flames. And teach your children how to react to fire.

Safe Use of Space Heaters is one of almost 250 Federal publications of interest to consumers listed in the Winter edition of the Consumer Information Index.

Veteran-student checks readied

Richard L. Roudsbush, administrator of veterans' affairs, reports the Veterans Administration will do everything possible to get more than $300 million in retroactive allowance checks to veteran students at the earliest possible moment.

Public Law 93-568, enacted Dec. 3, provides allowance increases retroactive to Sept. 1, 1974, of 22.7 per cent for most veterans, widows and children in VA training, and 18.2 per cent for veterans taking vocational rehabilitation, apprenticeship and job training.

Check amounts will vary widely because of the different VA programs involved, and the differing veteran situations in regard to dependents, length of enrollment and extent of the training workload.

However, a single veteran who has been going continuously full-time to college since last Sept. 1 would receive $200 in retroactive allowances, based on the difference between the former monthly rate of $20, and the $270 rate specified in the new law.

Under the same conditions a veteran with one dependent (going from $261 to $321 per month) would receive $200 in retroactive pay, and a veteran with two dependents (going from $298 to $368 per month) would receive $270.

All of the new rates included in the new law will be reflected in regular VA checks issued on and after Jan. 1, 1975, Roudsbush said.

Shower fetes Miss Todoroff

Miss Cynthia Todoroff was honored at a miscellaneous shower and luncheon during the weekend given by Mrs. Vasil Eftimoff at the Chailon-DeMenil House, St. Louis.

Guests at the shower first toured the historic dwelling. Guides provided by the Landmarks Foundation related the history of the house and its authentic Victorian furniture.

Luncheon was served in the carriage house which was appropriately decorated for the holiday season with evergreen swags and poinsettia. Favors were handmade gold and red Christmas tree ornaments.

Miss Todoroff was assisted in opening the gifts by her attendants, Miss Rosie Blaine, East St. Louis, Misses Connie and Cathy Beck, Ladue, Mo., and Miss Kristie Christich and Miss Elaine Todoroff, Granite City.

Other guests were Mesdames Larry Dew, John Galtner, Gary Presley, Mervin Lathrop, Emmanuel Ohanian, Elvin

Weiss, David Morgan, Paul Chilton, Frank Farrow, Michael Hicks, Leon Hudson, Michael Loftus and Kent St. Pierre. Also present were Mrs. Nick Todoroff, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. William Mills, Collinsville, mother of the prospective groom.

Miss Todoroff will be married on Sunday, Dec. 22, to Stewart Mills at the Holy Trinity Church in Madison.

Eagles Auxiliary initiates seven

Seven candidates were initiated into the Eagles Auxiliary at a meeting convened at the Eagles Home, 2558 Madison Ave.

Mrs. Billie Schuler, president, was in charge of the business session and the unit's ritual meal conducted the initiation.

The new members welcomed were Anna Mae Gates, Doris Young, Mary Bruner, Josephine Lancy, Candice Cardin, Alma Sedelars and Virginia Kellogg.

Plans were made for a children's Christmas party at the Eagles home on Sunday, Dec. 22. The Eagles Auxiliary Band will entertain and Santa Claus will visit with the youngsters, Mrs. Schuler said. A donation was voted to the Madison County Mental Health Association.

Prizes awarded during the social hour were won by Mrs. Delores Parente and Mrs. Kathleen Reed. Refreshments were served by members of the ritual team, including Nancy Mullins, Beverly Sponeaman, Helen Frazier, Delores Sanders and Marge Hall.

Gabriel 78 meets at 5 p.m. today

Gabriel Shrine 78, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, has changed its meeting time to 5 o'clock tonight at the Masonic Temple, according to Mrs. Mary Ann DeHart, worthy high priestess.

The business session will be followed by initiation of 19 new members at 7:30 p.m. A Christmas party and gift exchange are planned later the same evening in the dining room, Mrs. DeHart said.

Madison Future Secretaries install

The first installation and initiation of charter members of a newly organized Future Secretaries Association were held at Madison High School this week.

In a candlelight setting, over 100 parents and friends of the 37 prospective members witnessed the program and were served refreshments during a social hour.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, the keynote speaker, stressed the importance of FSA members setting as a goal the attainment of a Certified Professional Secretary degree during their career.

Madison School Superintendent John Palchett stated, "We are very pleased this organization has been chartered at Madison High School and know it will benefit the students enrolled in secretarial courses."

As FSA members entered the room each received a pink Sweetheart rose corsage from the faculty advisors, Mrs. Beverly Imming and Lee Ashby.

Mrs. Charlie Vunovic, a member of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association and FSA chairman, gave the welcoming address. She emphasized the requirement that members must maintain a high grade point average and noted that membership is revoked if three meetings are missed.

Mrs. Vunovic asked parents to encourage the girls' interest in the business courses and their attendance at meetings.

Other speakers included Miss Twila Edmonds, treasurer of the NSA's Illinois Division, who spoke on behalf of the state officers; and Mrs. June Mosele, a CPS and local chairman of the International World and Public Affairs committee, who reviewed the International Secretaries Association's program.

Mrs. Mosele was in charge of the initiation ceremony, assisted by Miss Edmonds. The installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. Vunovic and Mrs. Sally Gracey, Tri-Cities Chapter president.

Officers serving during the initial year are: Deborah Bailey, president; Donna Miller, vice-president; Yolanda Washington, recording secretary; Jo Ann Malone, treasurer; and Ellen Richert and Judy Goudy, board members-at-large.

After the ceremonies, Mrs. Gracey, presented a FSA pennant and gave Miss Bailey from the sponsoring chapter.

Twelve members of the Granite City FSA Chapter were guests at the event. Tri-Cities Chapter members who helped to arrange the program were Mrs. Gracey, Mrs. Joyce Savich, Mrs. Peggy Moore, Mrs. Lou Hemming and Mrs. Gail Foley.

Charter members of the Madison FSA are Jackie Berong, Barbara Bevil, Cindy Bevil, Anita Black, Graeie Brown, Cheryl Cawly, Kim Clark, Stephanie Clark, Shirley Connor, Toni Cromer, Minnie Downs, Cynthia Garber, Linda Glasper, June Goodwin, Josephine Gorka.

Darlene Gorkie, Rita Johnson, Romanita King, Linda Lelesiewski, Regina London, Lorna Mallet, Carol Mayes, Julie Miller, Cathy Radcliff, Anita Rodgers, Williemenia Watts, Linda Whitecotton, Judy Willmuth, Maggie York and Lunita Young.

FORMER RESIDENTS NAME DAUGHTER TONI Mr. and Mrs. Teddy E. Hendricks Jr., of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, are announcing the birth of a daughter Monday at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis.

The infant has been named Toni Eileen. She weighed seven pounds, six ounces and has a 5-year-old sister, Deanna Lee.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hendricks Sr., of Edwardsville, also former residents, and Mrs. Eileen Bradley of Granite City and the late William Bradley.

Can we wait till the 1980's to build the power plants we'll need in the 1980's?

Some ask "Why keep building new electric power plants now? Why not wait and see? Maybe electricity demands will level off."

Maybe some new miracle energy will turn up. Let's wait."

Can any of us afford the risk of postponing new electric capacity for five or ten years? Demand for electric energy has doubled every ten years since the turn of the century. If we'd postponed the plants we planned in the 1960's, we'd be able to supply only half the demand our customers have for electricity today.

If we stop building today for the 1980's, the result could be a dark, chilly future. Power plants don't happen overnight: it takes 8 to 10 years to build one.

We're doing our best to build for the future with capital invested by thousands of private investors throughout Illinois and the U.S. These investors are banking on a fair return on their money, while helping assure sufficient energy in the years ahead for your home, your job, your farm, schools and public services.

We built them. And we're building now. Because none of us can afford to wait.

ILLINOIS POWER

It's our business to serve you better.

Scott wins lengthy battle over optical regulations

The Illinois Supreme Court has upheld Attorney General William T. Scott's argument that the fitting of contact lenses should be done by a licensed optometrist or ophthalmologist. The court reversed earlier decisions of the trial and appellate courts in a case involving the House of Vision, a large optical dispensing company headquartered at 135 Wabash, Chicago.

Scott argued that the company allowed non-licensed persons to fit customers with contact lenses, and he contended that this violated Illinois statutes and was injurious to the health and welfare of the people of Illinois.

The original suit against the House of Vision was instituted July 6, 1965, by former Attorney General William G. Clark, but was lost in the lower courts.

But, in June, 1974, the Illinois Supreme Court granted Attorney General Scott the right to appeal in the higher court and that effort resulted in Scott's victory last week. The Illinois Supreme Court remanded the case to the Cook County Circuit Court which is expected, next week, to issue the injunction which will require House of Vision to discontinue the practice of using unlicensed laymen to fit contact lenses.

In his argument, Scott pointed out that the fitting of contact lenses requires expert knowledge and involves the adapting of an ophthalmic prescription to the corneas of the individual being fitted.

In the Illinois Supreme Court opinion upholding Scott's contention, Justice Walter V. Schaefer wrote:

"A contact lens, when properly fitted, is designed to rest on the tear layer covering the eye and on the outer layer of the cornea, which is called the epithelium. The epithelium is a tissue which acts as a protective covering for the cornea. To maintain its normal structure, function, and metabolism, the epithelial tissue requires a constant supply of oxygen. Normally, the cornea receives oxygen directly from the air through diffusion by the tear layer. But since a 'hard' contact lens is not permeable, it must be designed to permit adequate tear flow underneath it in order to supply the epithelial cells it covers with oxygen. If it does not do so, these cells will be altered or die."

Special Assistant Attorney General Donald Carnow acted for Scott in the successful high court case.

Clothes Closet store looted

A stereo and an undetermined quantity of jewelry, belts, pipes and other small items were stolen from the Clothes Closet in the Pontoon Plaza Shopping Center, 2130 Pontoon Road, it was reported at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

An unsuccessful attempt also was made to enter the Thebeau Insurance Agency in the same building, with pry marks left in the door frame.

The east door to the hallway was pried open after an unsuccessful attempt to pry open the rear door. The clothing shop then was entered by prying the rear door from the hallway.

Several showcases and wall displays were damaged.

$5,000 silver coins stolen

A silver and coin collection valued at $5,000 was taken from the residence of Robert Warner, 807a Greenwood St., Madison between 2 p.m. and 9 p.m. Monday.

Burglars apparently gained entrance to the apartment by prying a door.

Among the items taken were 18 silver bars, three large silver coins, and a complete set of Jefferson nickels along with several Buffalo, Lincoln, and 180 Liberty issue nickels.

Closed hiring of attorney repeated at Nameoki meeting; opinion sought

The Madison County State's Attorney's Office will be asked this month to consider whether Nameoki Township followed appropriate procedures in changing attorneys for Town Fund purposes.

During the Nov. 25 regular Nameoki Town Board of Auditors meeting, Supervisor Louis Whitsell asked the audience to leave the room and allow the board to discuss personnel.

During that session, the board voted 3-2 to request the resignation of Nick D. Vassileff as attorney for town purposes, the minutes show. By the same vote margin, the board hired H. Carl Runge Jr. as the attorney for town fund purposes.

Vassileff submitted his resignation Nov. 29, effective Dec. 1.

Some observers questioned whether the votes were legal, having been cast in a closed session. At Monday night's meeting, Auditor Eugene Gargac posed the question to the board, "How can any action be taken at a closed meeting?"

The Illinois Open Meeting Law allows taxing bodies to hold executive sessions to discuss personnel and land acquisition but clearly denotes that no official actions may be taken during executive sessions.

Whitsell Monday night contended the votes were legal, saying "It was not a closed meeting. Only the board meets in closed session. Highway Commissioner Albert Bell and the attorney were present at this session." He admitted the public had been asked to leave.

Gargac asked that the issue be referred to the state's attorney for clarification.

Whitsell responded, "Statutes delegate to town boards that you can hire employees other than at a public meeting. The attorney is an employee."

As the new attorney, Runge was asked for his opinion, and said he had not researched the topic but felt the Open Meeting Law has an exception for personnel actions.

He added he felt the board has the authority to hire employees at any time. He agreed to further research the question and give a written opinion.

Auditor W. Lee Adams said, "Any action taken should be open to the public," and Gargac agreed.

Whitsell said, "To save embarrassment of the employee, Lee (Adams) asked for a private session. I would just as soon it was done out here (at an open meeting)."

Adams repeated Gargac's previous request that the issue be referred to the state's attorney for clarification.

Hessler indicated he felt the issue could be resolved by repeating the votes on the attorney question, this time in the public session.

He made a motion to accept Vassileff's resignation and Whitsell seconded. All voted for the motion except Adams and the motion passed 4-1.

Hessler then made a motion to approve the resolution hiring Runge and it passed 3-2, with Adams and Gargac voting against.

Gargac then made a motion to instruct the clerk to write the state's attorney's office for an opinion on whether the actions taken in the closed session were legal.

Whitsell commented, "I'd hate to embarrass ourselves with the state's attorney. He'd just say, 'What's wrong with those people in Nameoki Township? They have their own attorney.'"

Despite Whitsell's opposition, the board approved the motion 4-1 and the opinion will be sought.

Drug awareness program for parents in Madison

A drug awareness program, specifically designed for parents, will be presented on Wednesday, Jan. 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets, Madison.

The program is being designed to give parents help in understanding and coping with the drug problems should it arise in the home, and to instruct and inform the parents so that they may have a better understanding of the drug situation.

Several knowledgeable persons have volunteered their time to assist in this program. Among those who will participate are Dr. George T. Wilkins, a local medical doctor; Dr. David Paul, PhD, registered pharmacist; Sgt. Gary Burns, head of the Madison County Sheriff's department narcotic squad; Jerry Brown, assistant principal of Granite City High School North, a noted expert on youth and drugs.

The program is being presented by Explorer Post 10-4 in cooperation with the Madison Police department as a public service.

Chief of Police Frank Dutko and W. P. "Mick" Strange are coordinating the program.

"I hope every interested parent will mark the date of our drug awareness program on their calendar now and attend this meeting. I cannot over-emphasize the importance of the parents role in combating the drug problem," Chief Dutko commented.

"Parents can not expect the schools, churches or police to solve the drug problem for them. The foundation for the ultimate solution lies in the home and with the family. It is difficult, if not impossible, for a parent to handle or help solve a problem if they really don't understand what it's all about," Strange said.

The problem is open to adults only, due to the nature of the discussion and demonstrations at the meeting.

Washington bureau—Regulations drive up car costs

The fact that nearly 200,000 automobile workers at General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors lost their jobs, at least temporarily, as the Christmas season begins is a grim reminder that Americans are thinking twice before they buy a new car.

There is no doubt that the one deterrent is the price of automobiles. Inflation, industry leaders remind us, is only partly responsible for the problem. Lee Iacocca, president of the Ford Motor Co., recently summarized another, and even greater, reason.

The Ford Pinto, says Mr. Iacocca, costs $1,014 more today than it did four years ago. Only about half of the increase results from the higher price of raw materials and labor. The other half is because of the cost of smog and safety devices that are required by federal law.

Mr. Iacocca's statistics are persuasive. He says that if the present state of affairs continues, today's $3,382 Pinto will cost $5,085 in three years. "What started as a $2,000, a $5,000 pound economy car will be a $5,000, 3,000 pound car with much lower fuel economy," he adds.

As an alternative, the Ford president suggests that the company should be allowed to design its own compact car. He believes that Ford could do it for $820 less and still provide reasonable health and safety standards.

His report is not unique in the automobile industry. Moving in the wake of safety and environmental crusades in the last 10 years, the federal government has intruded deeply into the business of designing automobiles.

Without a doubt, the federal effort has done some good. Automobiles are safer today than they were a decade ago. While the air may not be much cleaner, at least it is not as dirty as it would have been had not something been done to reduce pollution.

On the other hand, there is no doubt that some of the government's meddling into the technology of the auto industry has been less than helpful. It is hard to see, for example, any virtue in adding to the weight, cost and fuel consumption of automobiles by requiring a bumper that withstands "crashes" at 5 miles an hour. It took Congress only a year to reverse itself on the hazardous interlock system which stipulated that seats belts be locked before cars could be started. Other regulations have added needlessly to the costs of cars, robbed them of performance and delayed research efforts to redesign engines.

Still, the nation's fumbling efforts to produce safe automobiles and healthier air will have been beneficial if they convinced Congress that cars, like camels, cannot be designed by committees on Capitol Hill.

Appeal for oil crisis cooperation is not being voiced

It is distressing to hear Interior Secretary Rogers Morton disclose that the United States of America would be in the same sorry position it was a year ago if Arabs impose another oil embargo. Last winter Americans were promised that progress would be made towards making this country independent of foreign energy resources.

However, Mr. Morton, head of the Federal Energy Council, candidly acknowledges that "there is no program underway" to counter a reduction in crude oil imports.

Speed in developing our own energy resources has not been part of anyone's vocabulary, within the administration, on Capitol Hill or within the oil business. Even interim programs to increase crude oil storage capacity as a basic energy source. Secretary Morton earlier said that "coal is the answer" to the nation's long-term energy needs, but there has been no rush to convert oil-fired electric power generating plants to coal. Incentives have not been offered by the government to encourage such conversions.

Projects to recover oil from Rocky Mountain shale and to use and convert coal to synthetic fuels are on the drawing boards; however, they have not gotten much further in a year's time.

One excuse offered is that decisions were awaiting a "Project Independence" report by the Federal Energy Administration. When finally issued early in November, the three-inch-thick document proved to be a listing of national energy options instead of a specific "blueprint" for an energy program to gain independence.

When the boycott was at its height last winter, the American people were prepared to make whatever sacrifices were necessary to minimize the impact of the Arab intransigence. Now, we would guess they are still ready to accept whatever sacrifices are necessary to regain U.S. independence from the whims of Arab nations.

Americans are not making those sacrifices, we believe, simply because the urgency of our energy crisis has not been fully conveyed to citizens in terms of exactly what they should do, and how.

Political use of Internal Revenue Service intolerable

The use of the federal tax system for political purposes is an intolerable subversion of a system which is basic to the maintenance of social order.

No individual, corporation or association in America is exempt from the prying eyes of the Internal Revenue Service. This is as it should be so long as the only purpose is to assure that everyone is paying a fair share of the financial burden necessary to support the legitimate functions of the federal government.

But to use this vast power for political purposes, as apparently was done by the Nixon administration, is to destroy the basis of public trust upon which the federal tax system is founded.

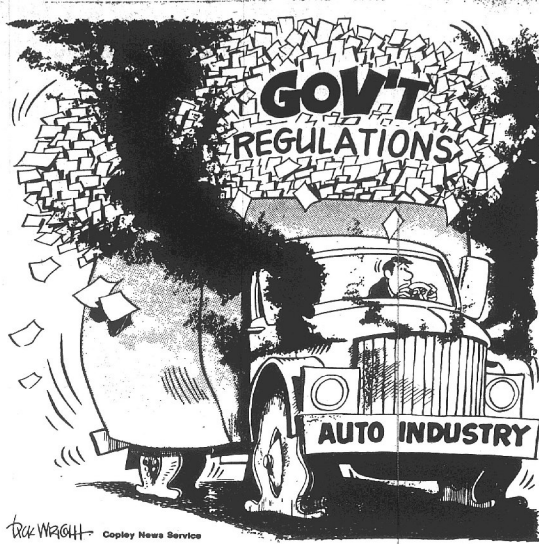

A 1969 document recently released to the public indicates that an assistant commissioner of the IRS directed his agents throughout the country to gather information on 55 organizations—information that had nothing to do with tax collection. A campaign of intimidation was set in motion, apparently at the behest of the White House.

The targets included the National Council of Churches, Americans for Democratic Action, the John Birch Society, and the National Urban League.

The Congress should investigate this sorry affair in its entirety and, if possible, enact safeguards against its repetition. To guarantee a fair and equal tax system was one of the chief purposes of the founding fathers. The federal tax collector's name must never be used for its political clout, either to reward friends or punish enemies.

True Christmas spirit is still alive

To the Editor:

I suffered a heart attack in September of this year, and have not returned to work as yet. Because of short longevity with American Steel, I have been living on $95 a week from insurance.

My doctor and I told my three children that there would be very little Christmas this year, because of money matters. My children are young and this was hard for them to understand.

On Saturday afternoon, a fellow supervisor, Sam Stoyanoff, came to my house and presented my wife with enough money to buy our children some Christmas, after all.

The supervisors of American Steel had gotten together and collected enough money for my family to have a good Christmas.

I wish that you would print this and that I could name each individual person who donated money.

This will be an even better Christmas, because we have 22 friends who will share in ours.

Who says the American people are no longer interested in their fellow man? I would like to wish everyone as wonderful a Christmas as we will have.

Opposes student smoking at schools

To the Editor:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter which I wrote to the Citizens' Advisory Council, in care of the Board of Education in Granite City.

I would appreciate your publishing it in the hope that it will motivate the parents of high school students to do whatever is necessary to keep the no-smoking rule.

We must act, by writing letters to the Advisory Council, to avoid students being allowed to smoke on school grounds today and in the school buildings in the near future.

I have no quarrel with smoking per se, but I strongly object to helping to pay for it on school grounds. It is not a moral issue, but rather a health issue.

I request that you do not use my name or address, as I have a daughter in school who may suffer some consequences from her schoolmates.

The letter to the Citizens' Advisory Council follows:

I have been told by the school board office that they consider the no-smoking rule unenforceable because a large number of students (perhaps one-third of the student body) congregate in one area and dare officials to enforce the rule. So they are considering changing the rule to accommodate the smokers.

A decision to allow students to smoke on the grounds or in the building invites anarchy in the public schools.

Parents and public officials must keep in mind the disastrous effects of such permissiveness beyond elimination of the bothersome problem of enforcing a no-smoking rule.

The law provides that my child must attend school until age 16. It is enforceable.

I see no reason why a no-smoking rule cannot be enforced.

It must be understood from the outset that enforcement does not mean asking, pleading or compromising. It means to force the students to obey the no-smoking rule.

I cannot see why the two-thirds of the student body who are non-smokers should be penalized financially and physically by the other one-third who are smokers.

A decision to allow students to smoke on the grounds or in the building is purely for the education and pleasure of smokers. It in no way enhances the surroundings or learning processes.

To the rational mind it is elementary to make the decision for enforcing the no-smoking rule.

ROUTE ONE WOMAN

I object to my tax dollars being spent to pay for clean-up on the grounds, lounges, ash trays, etc., to enable students to smoke, just as I would object to providing facilities for them to inject themselves with any potentially poisonous substance.

ROUTE ONE WOMAN

After-school bus expense justified

To the Editor:

In response to the lady who wrote in to oppose the after-school activity bus petition in Granite City, she said she would like to see tax money spent on something more beneficial.

What is more beneficial than children?

This lady says she hasn't been out of school too long herself. Maybe that explains why she is not mature enough to know the depths of the feeling some of us parents feel for our children and other children.

She said her parents picked her up after school and other children's parents should do the same. That's wonderful that she was born with parents who would and could provide this.

It's a shame that all parents cannot do this. Some children's parents are working, and there may not be extra transportation in the family.

Some are from broken homes, and a kid must shift more or less for himself. Also there can be illness in the family.

There are only a few of the reasons why some children are on these road-hitch-hiking or walking the highways—after dark.

How many children don't even go out for sports events because of having no way home?

What kind of people do the yuppies who do stay for sports run into on their way home? Drug pushers? Rapists?

When you leave a child you loved, no taxes and no words can help.

But maybe that's why these things happen—to wake people up.

Take a look at your child or children, a nephew, a niece, a grandchild, the neighbor's child, that cute little boy you saw in the grocery store.

Then tell me what would be more beneficial to spend tax money on?

All taxpayers in Granite City know and love at least one child that they would not like to see get hurt.

Eric Moed was my nephew. He was a boy, not an angel and not a devil, just one of 21 grandchildren of my mother.

That sounds like there would be plenty of children in our family to fill the void.

But the empty place that has been made in our family by the loss of this little guy is

Eric was one of a kind. He caught and trained pigeons. We walked around with them perched on his arm.

He was inquisitive and mischievous. I don't know if we will all miss him terribly the rest of our lives.

If my brother, Jack, is not there, my program and it saves one family what ours is now enduring, maybe Eric's death will be a little easier to endure.

This letter isn't being written for sympathy. But I myself have read of children being hit and hurt, and thought, "That's a shame. The poor people," and then forgot about it.

When it hits home, it's a whole new ball game.

To this young lady, I would like to say that maybe someday this might even save one of her children.

Although I live in Madison now, I have lived and paid taxes in Granite City.

Jack has two brothers and two sisters living in the Granite City school district, and I'm sure they agree with what I have written in this letter.

Don't use state staff as 'political football'

To the Editor:

The governor says a feud is going on. That feud involves the governor and the legislature. It has nothing to do with the governor's vetoes. It has to do with politics.

But the governor is trying to make state employees the victim of this political feud by threatening layoffs and cuts in public services. He is trying to create an atmosphere of crisis—when no such crisis exists.

There is no justification for these kinds of scare tactics. We do not think the people of Illinois will tolerate it.

We are certain that AFSCME, which represents state employees in Illinois, will not tolerate it.

The governor is using public employees at a time when his own high-paid administrators—whose raises he does not object to—admit there is a budget surplus.

The legislative override is a traction-in dollar terms—of the governor's vetoes.

The amount they did push through represents a conservative and restrictive additions to state expenditures, well in line with tax revenues and requiring neither cuts in services nor additional taxes.

If politicians want to fight, let them fight. But let's not use public employees as a political football or deprive the people of Illinois of vital services as an excuse to retaliate against political enemies.

Council responsibly solved city problem

To the Editor:

I have written two letters to you and the City Council in regard to establishing a "livestock" ordinance for our city.

Because of these letters, the council at its Dec. 2 meeting gave me the opportunity to express my views.

The outcome being this, it was pointed out to me there is "on the books" a chicken hatchery ordinance which — had I and the city inspector been aware of—it would have ended the problems I encountered.

The council also directed the city inspector to enforce the provisions of the ordinance.

Due to the discussions in regard to this matter, the council further directed the city attorney to prepare and bring before the council an ordinance which would update existing ordinances and include all types of farm animals.

Thereby, this can give our citizens protection under the law from abuses caused by a relatively few people who maintain livestock or farm animals within the city.

I wish to publicly thank your paper, and the City Council for consideration given to me in this matter and to urge the council to adopt the proposed ordinance regulating livestock in the city.

Jobless rate worse but construction of apartments may boom

(Federal Home Loan Bank—Seventh District)

The task of making estimates for 1975 is easier than it was a year ago to make similar estimates for 1974. There is less uncertainty about most of the factors and markets, though the news is not good.

Nevertheless, there are some factors affecting financial markets which make it especially difficult to forecast with much confidence except for a few periods of time.

The Administration has announced that we are "moving into a recession." This not-so-veiled secret has been recognized for some months by economists outside of government.

In the very near future, the National Bureau of Economic Research is likely to announce that the most recent peak of economic activity was November 1973 and that we have, in effect, been in a recession since then.

It will be the sixth post-World War II recession (the others were November 1948 - October 1949; July 1953 - August 1954; July 1957 - April 1958; May 1960 - February 1961; and November 1969 - November 1970).

It will surely be both the longest and the most severe recession in almost 30 years.

During the 1957-58 recession, the unemployment rate reached 7.4 per cent in April 1958, just as the recession was ending. In October 1974 there was a slight rise in the unemployment rate to 6.6 per cent.

There are strong indications that this rate will continue to rise over the next two quarters and that this rise will be due mainly to the coal strike.

This coal strike, likely to be relatively short, will serve to distort the pattern of economic activity by worsening the situation for the fourth quarter 1974 and making the first quarter look somewhat better.

Notwithstanding work programs developed by the Administration, the unemployment rate by mid-1975 will probably equal or exceed the 7.4 per cent level of 1958.

There should remain no doubt as to the lack of growth, in real terms in the economy.

In the second and third quarters of 1974, real output declined by 1.6 per cent and 2.1 per cent, respectively, after a much sharper decline in the first quarter.

In October 1974, the index of leading economic indicators fell by 1.3 per cent, the third consecutive month of declines; the decline for September 1974 was revised to 0.3 per cent, the sharpest one-month decline.

Revised forecasts of capital spending suggest there will be a real increase in that sector with dollar rises offsetting increased costs.

With slack developing in the economy, it is and will continue to be more difficult for firms to pass through increases in costs, let alone take a mark-up on these higher costs.

Many of the areas in which there were "shortages" or where there were long delays in obtaining materials are no longer problem areas.

In fact, there are a growing number of reports of firms making conscious efforts to reduce their inventories of finished goods (as in the automobile industry) and raw materials.

Nevertheless, within the next two quarters it is not reasonable to expect anything but a minor moderation in the rate of inflation.

In the third quarter 1974, inflation was 11.8 per cent. In October 1974, consumer prices rose 10.8 per cent, somewhat below the 13.2 per cent in September (yearly rate).

During the 12 months ending in October 1974, consumer prices rose by 12.2 per cent. Insofar as the recession helps to moderate the price situation, the adjustments will become less difficult and we should see some decided improvement in the price situation by the fourth quarter of 1975.

The important exception is likely to be in the agricultural area where poor weather and increasing world demand will probably eliminate any significant decline in the price of foods.

The housing situation, as measured by housing starts, is likely to get worse during the remainder of the year, since building permits, a leading indicator of starts, have fallen sharply.

While housing starts fell by only 0.7 per cent between September and October 1974 to 12 million, they were a third lower than October 1973 and close to the very low level of 1.08 million of January 1970.

Building permits fell by 2.3 per cent in October 1974 to 802,000, which was 42 per cent below October 1973 and the lowest level since December 1966, when they were 743,000.

With some improvement in savings flows expected in the coming months, additional mortgage funds may be available. This will not likely lead to much new home construction, since there remains a large over-hang of unsold homes.

Multi-family construction has been hit more severely than single-family, as is usually the case.

But because of economic factors (it may be cheaper to rent than to buy, all things considered) and demographic factors (rises in family formation), there is a reasonable good chance that there will be a recovery in multi-family construction and that such a recovery may well be a sustained one, unless certain cities are inhibited by the availability or actuality of rent control.

MARIE ROPP, retiring executive director of the Easter Seal Society of Southwestern Illinois, was honored at a dinner given by the Granite City Easter Seal Auxiliary in recognition of her nine years service. Miss Ropp was presented a gift by Betty Cook, president of the Granite City unit. The dinner was held at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant.

Retirees host Yule luncheon

Sixty members of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Chapter 1067, and six guests attended a Christmas luncheon meeting Monday held in the Officers Club at the Granite City Army Installation.

Holiday decorations on the tables and throughout the dining room created a festive atmosphere.

Thayer Erney gave the invocation and led the pledge of allegiance prior to the 1 o'clock meeting.

President Willard Messer welcomed a new member, Esther Wagner, and guests, Wilma Eddington, John Katzman, Emily Williams, Oscar Ash, Clara Ash and Marguerite Warren.

Walter Franklin reviewed current legislation of interest to the retirees.

A gift exchange was followed with a silent auction. The installation chapter officers will be held at 1 p.m. Jan. 13 at the Officers Club, Messer announced.

GETTING HARMONY IN YOUR FURNISHINGS

To have a beautifully decorated home, everything you buy, whether it be a piece of furniture or an accessory, should be interesting in its own right — and yet, should also harmonize with the other pieces.

Sometimes rooms and homes are not as beautiful as they might be because there is a lack of harmony among the furnishings. But, how do you go about getting this harmony?

First, there are two extremes to avoid. One extreme is to have everything in the same proportion, color and texture — that would be monotonous. The other extreme is to have everything completely different. That would be confusing.

Good harmony in decorating is achieved by having neither monotony nor confusion. Furniture and accessories should have variety and yet present a happy blend.

For example, you can use different shapes, but repeat accent colors to get unity. Or, you can get furniture pieces that have contrast in themselves for emphasis, yet still have a pleasing relationship to the other furnishings.

We can give you harmony — and beauty — in your rooms, and your home. Stop in and browse around.

BRIDE-ELECT. Miss Bonnie Brown, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brown, 8965 Fredonia-Stockton Road, Fredonia, N.Y., are announcing her engagement to Erik P. Wiehardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wiehardt of Granite City.

Wiehardt-Brown engagement

The engagement and plans for a late summer wedding of Miss Bonnie Brown and Erik P. Wiehardt are being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brown, 8965 Fredonia-Stockton Road, Fredonia, N.Y.

Parents of the prospective groom are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Wiehardt, 2532 E. 7th St. He was graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and received his master's degree in education from Central Connecticut State College. He now is employed as an assistant director of the College Union at State University at Geneseo, N.Y.

Miss Brown was graduated from Fredonia High School and will graduate this month from Geneseo State University with a degree in speech pathology and audiology.

The betrothed couple will be married on Aug. 16 in Fredonia, N.Y.

Delta Kappa Gamma chapters convene

A joint meeting of Alpha Eta, Gamma Epsilon and Beta Eta chapters of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society was held during the weekend at the Sheraton Hotel in Westport Plaza, St. Louis County.

A musical program, "Carols from Old to New," was presented by the Spirit of '76 group from Highland, directed by Marjorie Clayton of Gamma Epsilon Chapter.

Hostesses from Alpha Eta Chapter were Ruth Toomey of Wood River and Anna Mae Stewart of East Alton.

Alpha Eta members attending from the Granite City area were Agnes Fryntko, chapter president; Kathleen Kalchoff, Lucy Parrish, Hazel Towery and Elsie Mayhath.

Christmas choral service Sunday

A Christmas candlelight choral service will be held at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Two church choirs will lead the congregation and guests in singing many Christmas hymns and carols. The public is invited to attend, the Rev. Samuel Boda said.

Pre-service organ music will be played by Mrs. Phyllis Jarabak and Semanitar Martin A. Seltz. Both choirs will enter the sanctuary in a candlelight procession.

A nativity scene will grace the chancel, where the choristers and worshippers will join in singing the Christmas gospel in song, the ministers said.

Featured by the Senior Choir will be the four Advent and Christmas choruses from Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah." Soloists will be Mrs. Josephine Diak and Mrs. Diane Gebhardt.

The Children's Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Diane Gebhardt, will sing two carols, "Ring the Bells" by Harry Bollback, and "Good, Christian Men Rejoice."

A flute obligato, to be performed by Miss Susan Dahmus, will embellish the singing of a Rhine carol, "Wake, Shepherds, Awake," by the Church Choir.

Other selections will include "Hallelujah, Amen" by Handel; "Babe of Beauty" by John Boda; "Break Forth, O'Beauteous Heavenly Light"

Nameoki Pack 46 observes holiday

Nameoki School PTA Cub Pack 46 honored the pilgrims and noted the first Thanksgiving at its pack meeting. Ray Wertha's Webelos den presented the colors and led the pledge to the flag.

Mrs. Evelyn Mynta's Den 1, under the direction of Mrs. Carol Barr, re-enacted Squanto's aid to the pilgrims. Don Scholebo's Den 3 built a pilgrim cabin, set a fire, and roasted turkey in a portrayal of the first Thanksgiving.

Den 4, with Don Coleman as narrator, told how the pilgrims learned to plant corn and how the Indians under Chief Massasoit were invited to the first Thanksgiving feast. Mrs. Yvonne Foley's Den 5 spelled out the word "pilgrim."

Cubmaster Bernard Miller, attired as a pilgrim father, reviewed the Mayflower Compact and asked the cubs to work together to build a better pack, den, family and community as the signers of the compact also pledged.

Representing the cubs in signing a scroll inscribed with the law of the pack were award recipients for the month—Eddie Thomas and Don Scholebo. Bobcat badges: Andy Mynt and Stacey Marshall; Wolf badges: Don Farrell, Wolf badge—and gold arrow; and Kevin Meadows, one gold and three silver arrows.

Webelos activity badges as athlete, geologist, sportsman and naturalist were presented to Scott Chenuault by Webelos Leader Ray Wertha. Geologist badges went to Ronnie Coleman, Chip Fetter, Caleb Miller and Brad Wertha; and Gordon Williams earned forester and naturalist badges.

A Christmas party was planned for this week, with a visit from Santa Claus, an exchange of gifts and the collection of canned goods for the pack's "good turn" project.

Mrs. Foley's Den 5 cubs led the group in singing "America" and conducted the closing ceremony.

Secretaries host Yule party

The Tri-Cities Chapter of the National Secretaries Association held its Christmas party at Charlie's Restaurant, followed by a gift exchange and business session.

Mrs. Salley Gracey, president, presided. Chairman of the civic committee, Mrs. Helen Gieselmann, announced a holiday party for nursing home patients is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday. Gifts will be taken to the patients and carols will be sung, with Miss Renee Sharp as the piano accompanist. Larry Sidener, a former "Boss of the Year," will portray Santa Claus and distribute stockings filled with fruit, nuts and candy.

Mrs. Anne Smith, vice-president, issued ballots for selection of the Lance recipient. The award is presented to a chapter member each February. Selection is by popular vote and is based on the following qualifications: Liked by all members; Active in all chapter projects; Cooperative in all chapter events and Enthusiastic about the National Secretaries Association in general and the Tri-Cities chapter in particular.

Mrs. Joyce Savich was installed as recording secretary due to a resignation.

Miss Marla Kraus and Mrs. Adrienne Warchol hosted the Christmas party. Mesdames Gieselmann and Linda Fritchey will serve as hostesses at the Jan. 2 meeting.

Peace Circle hosts holiday luncheon

Members of the Peace Circle of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church gathered at the Collinsville Holiday Inn for a luncheon and final meeting of the season.

Mrs. Emma Schoen, circle chairman, reported on the Methodist Women's executive board meeting and the programs planned for the ensuing year.

She said new names will be selected for circle assignments at the society's general meeting this week.

Those present were Pearl Albarn, Edna Lynn, Mabel Stewart, Katherine Van Order and guests, Mrs. Pearl Campbell and Mrs. Dorothy Frohardt.
